P R E F A C E

The Hasbrouck (Hasbrook) Family in America has at last become a reality. Portions of the material have been compiled over a period of many years by a number of members of the family. The Hasbroucks have always been interested in keeping personal records, beginning with the famous Abraham Hasbrouck Diary. Family Bibles, which have been a most valuable assistance in obtaining data, were kept and preserved through generations.

In 1946, a search was begun for the work of three men who had spent years on the Hasbrouck Genealogy. The names of Captain Raymond DeLancey Hasbrouck (USN), Major John E. Hasbrouck (USA), and Mr. Daniel T. Ronk, were ever in evidence when records of the Hasbroucks were being searched.

The Ronk manuscript was first to be located, followed by the European research done by Capt. Raymond DeL. Hasbrouck. Finally the detailed genealogical search done by Major John E. Hasbrouck was added to the collection. In 1924 the three men had a plan whereby their data could be brought together and placed in the Memorial House (Jean Hasbrouck House) on Huguenot Street, New Paltz, where it would be a source of information for members of the family. Their dream ended suddenly as all three men were deceased within a few years. For nearly twenty years their work lay unfinished.

From 1946 to the present time, the compiler has written letters to Hasbroucks everywhere, completed lines of descent, rechecked records, documented evidence, and brought together all available data on the Hasbrouck family. This genealogy is probably one of the most complete records ever compiled. It has been possible due to the interest and wonderful cooperation of the members of the family in present and past generations.

The social history, as well as the genealogy, is always very interesting. The Hasbrouck family presents certain inherent characteristics and it would be wonderful if it were possible to place in these volumes the many delightful glimpses of the personalities and the periods in which they lived.

Our ancestors, the brothers Jean and Abraham, who married the sisters Anna and Maria Deyo, were indeed individualists! Jean was the eldest, a devout man, quiet, steadfast, firm in his convictions, home-loving and a very good business man. He was content to dwell in simplicity and did not seek public office. His brother Abraham was more socially inclined. He had lived among the English as well as in France and Manheim. He was an army man with many acquaintances. He accepted positions that took him among the Dutch and away from home. Both brothers had a high regard for learning and family unity. It is interesting to note that some of the characteristics of the brothers have come down to this very day.

This genealogy is a written record of the Hasbroucks, but we have in New Paltz the complete documentation of the family housed in one place. On a separate page the items are listed so that those who come to the first permanent home of the Hasbroucks in America may ask to see them.

The compiler wishes to express his thanks to Mrs. William Heidgerd, who has done an expert job of typing the complete manuscript and assisting in the final editing; also to Mr. Heidgerd, who was ever willing to copy census records, surrogate records, and to be on the alert for newspaper accounts of the Hasbroucks.

Special thanks is gratefully extended to Miss Annette I. Young of Poughkeepsie, who has turned over to the family the priceless "Hasbrouck Letter, 1676" and other valuable documents.

This work has taken years and the hours would be difficult to tabulate. The compiler's wife, Alice Mildred Jackson Hasbrouck, has been most patient and helpful.

Perhaps some day a member of the family may have the means to publish these two volumes in regulation book form. If so, the photographs and other materials that cannot be used in mimeographed form, are available in New Paltz. For now, we must be content that the Hasbroucks, a closely-knit family, are finally together within the confines of two volumes. The dreams of three men who wrote and worked over a quarter of a century ago, is gradually being fulfilled. Our genealogy is done. The index card listing of each Hasbrouck is on record. The Memorial House (Jean Hasbrouck, 1712) is the headquarters of the Huguenot Historical Society and a museum. The Col. Josiah Hasbrouck Mansion, "Locust Lawn", is open to the public as a museum. A Hasbrouck Family Association has been formed (1957) and now has about two hundred members. The purchase of the Abraham Hasbrouck House is imminent.

The motto on the Hasbrouck Shield is "God Help (Save) Hasbrouck" and so he has. . . . They have prospered and increased in great numbers in this land where they have taken an active part in its struggle for eminence and even for a century before the United States of America was born.

The compiler wishes to express his thanks to each and every member of the family, too numerous to mention, who have worked very hard to aid him in this record.

KENNETH E. HASBROUCK

NOTE

It has been necessary to make certain sacrifices to keep the text and the index from becoming too bulky for reasonable use and to keep the cost of publication within reason. Since a Bevier Family History was published several years ago, the Deyo, Elting, and Schoonmaker genealogies are already available to the public, and the DuBois, Freer, and LeFevre are in preparation, it is felt unnecessary to repeat these lines here.

Daughters' lines are not usually carried down beyond their children, except for members of the Hasbrouck Family Association. However, all the data pertaining to Hasbrouck descendants received by correspondence with members of the family has been included.

Incidental references such as witnesses to wills and baptismal sponsors have not been indexed.

Church references are to Dutch Reformed Churches unless otherwise specified. Small towns are presumed to be in New York State, unless noted. When the year of baptism is not given, it is the same as the birth year. In some cases there are discrepancies of a few days or even a year or two between the tombstone record and the church record of birth. These are carefully noted.

Despite great effort over many years, it has been impossible to complete and connect all the lines. Certain "unknowns" are therefore listed in an appendix but are included in the regular index.

The generation is indicated by a letter preceding the number. Thus G-47 is the 47th entry in the 7th generation from Jean & Esther.

Standard abbreviations are used:

b. - born	pro. - Date will was probated
bp. - baptised	adm. - letters of administration
sp. - sponsor	sur. - surrogate's records
m. - married	cem. - cemetery
d. - died	ch. - church
d. y. - died young	f. r. - family record
bur. - buried	JEH - records of Maj. John E. Hasbrouck
	DTR - records of Daniel T. Ronk

EUROPEAN BACKGROUND

The European research of the Hasbrouck family was done over a period of many years, beginning in 1852 with the work of Gen. George Sharpe and continued by Capt. Raymond Hasbrouck and Maj. John E. Hasbrouck in the 1920's. To their work has been added my own research for the past 15 years, the study of Frau Margarete Paatz of Halle, Germany, and the findings of Consul Erwin VanHazebrouck of Berlin.

Definite proofs of ancestry are still lacking, but the conclusion must be drawn that the Hasbroucks of New Paltz were of the lesser nobility and that many of them were merchants. They were good businessmen and were always able to adjust to a new situation in which they found themselves. Most of the Family Bibles of the original patentees of New Paltz left space at the top of the first page of the family record for the names of mother and father. However, this record was never filled in and it is evident that the reason for this blank space lay in the fact that throughout their lifetime and that of their children there was always the possibility that the French might gain control of the English colonies in the new world. As their families had escaped with many of their possessions and most of their funds, before the Revocation of the Edict of Nantes, there was a strong possibility that the French government would still be very interested in these refugees and in their relatives who had remained behind. The family Bibles still remain incomplete.

Conclusive evidence has not yet been presented to determine the ancestors of the brothers Abraham and Jean. It seems best that the results of research and the theories of each person be presented in his own words. The following letters state the case:

Letter from GEN. GEORGE SHARPE

Paris, 19th Aug. 1852

Hon. Abm. B. Hasbrouck

My dear Mr. President:

.... In all my enquiries and researches here, I was continually stumbling against something relating to Flanders, Brussels, or Brabant, and in Europe specialties are kept so nicely separated that I was immediately lost on crossing the line between France and the

1. The first part of the report is a general introduction to the subject of the study. It discusses the importance of the problem and the objectives of the research.

2. The second part of the report is a detailed description of the methods used in the study. This includes a discussion of the experimental design, the data collection procedures, and the statistical analysis techniques.

3. The third part of the report presents the results of the study. This section includes a summary of the findings, a discussion of the implications of the results, and a comparison of the findings with previous research.

4. The fourth part of the report is a conclusion and a discussion of the limitations of the study. This section also includes suggestions for further research.

5. The fifth part of the report is a list of references. This section includes a list of all the sources used in the study, including books, articles, and other documents.

6. The sixth part of the report is an appendix. This section includes any additional information that is relevant to the study, such as raw data, supplementary figures, or detailed descriptions of the experimental procedures.

Low Countries. I expected to have the opportunity during my residence here of making a third visit to Brussels, if not, intending to employ some person in that city to make the necessary enquiries. A short time since, in coming down the Rhine, I found myself so near Brussels that I decided upon making my route to Paris by way of it; and it would appear that I have been quite fortunate in the time of my visit. My first object was to get admission to King Leopold's library, which I did and found by the obliging character of the guardians that I would have more than work enough for a month to overlook all the sources that could be placed at my disposal. On the second day, I was favored with an interview with the chief librarian, who recommended an application to Mr. Goethals. This person's business will give you a fair idea of the wonderful number of compartments in which every trade and profession on the continent is cut up. The King's librarian, in daily intercourse with all the fountains of knowledge, could give me no new advice or information; but Mr. Goethals, a curious fat little man, living in a very obscure part of the city, has made it his business for twenty years past to buy up, right and left, all sorts of old deeds of title and nobility, genealogical deductions, and so forth, whenever they could be got at moderate or nominal prices.

He amused me very much, being very pedantic and Macaulayising his discourse with the glittering diction of devices and heraldry, but possessing at the bottom a quantity of interesting information.

Mr. Goethals tells me that there has never existed in Brabant or the Low Countries, but one family of the "von Asbroeck's" (with its branches, of course). He believes it to be now nearly or quite extinct (except in Spain, see below), and some four years ago, he was employed by a Mademoiselle Von Asbrceck, the last of the name (as he thinks) living in that part of the Spanish possessions, in the Low Countries, to make some researches into her family history---she being about to marry into a wealthy Belgian family.

From these enquiries resulted the papers which he mentions in his note to me; and which I have seen, although I was not permitted to make any extract from them.

You can imagine that they are not devoid of interest---and they have every mark of regularity. Mr. Goethals specialty ideas would permit him to think nothing else than that you would be anxious to buy from him all the information he has upon what is (with very great probability) the ancestral line of our Hasbrouck family. I gave him no reason to hope anything of the kind, promising, however, to forward to you his proposition and the sketch of the arms which he gave me, which is already very interesting as having been made one hundred and fifty years ago. He wished you to see this sketch, hoping that if it recalled to mind the one you speak of having seen years ago in the pamphlet, you would be the more led to the purchase he proposes. If the sketch you saw was not colored, any crest engraver will be able to tell you the distributions of lines which signify the different colors (and other minutiae), in engraving and cutting---and this may also serve as an assistance to your memory. The papers of Mr. G. could only have their full interest by tracing the name of someone of the von Asbroecks who may have left Belgium about the time when the Hasbroucks arrived in America, and following down the descent to our days. Have you ever consulted our County and State records to see how far back the name can be made to remount?

All about Brussels are found the names which we call at one time Huguenot, and at another Dutch, a little towards France, DuBois Bevier and the like; and a little towards Holland, Beekman and the like, and the various vans. In fact, on hearing Mr. Goethals talk of the old Brabant families with whose history he was acquainted, one might almost imagine himself listening to an old settler of Ulster or Albany Counties.

But if the better part of the oldest families in those and adjoining countries, are of Brabant or French Flanders origin, how do you explain the fact of their traditions of Huguenot descent, for the Huguenots were certainly confined to that part of France which lies parallel with or south of Geneva, the fountain of the revolution, whence they drank in their doctrines.

Two hundred years ago, the distance between the northeastern frontiers of France and LaRochele was immense; and I cannot find that any such names as we call Huguenot, exist at the present day in the southwest or south French departments. Being so near the French line, our ancestors in Brabant must have spoken French, and having adopted the Protestant "heresies", were they called also by the most ready name that was found to designate them? Pray let me know your ideas about it.

Among the papers of Mr. Goethals are many sketches of the von Asbroeck arms. Those enclosed are the ones originally granted. You will notice that the first deed of nobility dates from 1486. Some years later....under the Emperor Charles the Fifth, some members of the von Asbroeck family did something (I couldn't find out what) very much to the liking of his majesty, who thereupon made an alteration in the arms of that branch. The shield was divided by a bar in two parts, into the lower of which were placed the three burning cups, and other device which occupies the entirety of the shield as I sent it to you; and in the upper, the half body of an eagle, the first named being, of course, reduced in size to conform. If I recollect rightly, it is from the branch bearing these arms that went those members of the family who settled in Spain. The genealogical tables which

Mr. Goethals has, appear to be very full, and there are marginal notes which occasionally remark upon change of residence &c.

Among them, mention is made of an Adrien von Asbroeck, who expatriated himself in 1625 and nothing farther is heard of him, both of which circumstances are rather unusual for, of others who left Belgium, particularly of the Spanish settlers, full information is preserved. Is not the date 1625 a possible, if not a very probable date for the arrival of a Hasbrouck with Ulster Huguenots in America? This Adrien belonged to the branch bearing the original arms granted.

I have made a translation of Mr. Goethals note.....

GEORGE H. SHARPE

Translation of letter to Gen. George Sharpe, 1852

8-7-1852

Sir:

I have the honor of sending to you the arms of the family von Asbroeck. These are also those of Ferdinand von Asbroeck, son of Francois Louis. The last named deceased in 1713, was a nephew of Adrien von Asbroeck who left Belgium; we read in the genealogy of the family that he went out of his native land in the year 1625.

Another, John von Asbroeck, born in 1673, established himself in Spain where he has left posterity. The family von Asbroeck is allied to that of DuBois.

The sheets I possess are:

1. Arms of 1666
2. Genealogical deductions of eight pages with well-executed arms (These are beautifully painted).
3. Other quarterings very well colored
4. Memorandums upon the Spanish von Asbroecks
5. Diplomas of nobility on parchment of 1486 and 1548, separate, eight pages each.
6. Eight genealogies of the family von Asbroeck of which one is in very large form with all the arms colored.

If Mr. von Asbroeck should decide to take all pieces at the price of five hundred francs, I will instantly make further searches in order to complete the information which they inclose.

Frederick R. Keator, Sec.
Holland Society of N. Y.

Dear Sir:

In 1894, immediately after my final graduation at the U. S. Naval Academy, I was sent as a student for a post-graduate course in France and was a student in the French Government schools from 1894 to 1896. It was during this period that I became interested, first in the town of Hazebrouck; the name is so unusual that I thought this French city, that part of France which was formerly Flanders, Artois, and Picardie, must have taken its name from the family of Hasbrouck. I searched the Paris records in a desultory way with little result. However, at this time I read extensively, particularly histories of the French Huguenots and of old Flanders.

During the period June 1921 to June 1924 I was American Naval Attaché, attached to the United States Embassy at Rome, Italy. I took this opportunity to get in touch with M. de Sorbiers de la Tourasse of the College Heraldique de France, and he began for me a systematic research of the French towns of old Flanders, namely: Ypres, Lille, St. Omer, Furnes, etc. M. de Sorbiers during these three years discovered a great deal of most interesting information which is included in the notes that I am forwarding to you, viz. - namely pages 1 to 16 inclusive.

The information is drawn from the following sources:

1. History of Flanders by Kervyne (small edition)
2. The Lambin Armorial 1813
3. Epitaphs of 1137, 1412, and 1631
4. Statistics of names
5. Terrier Villartin in the Ypres Library
6. The Museum of Ypres
7. The First Cartulaire of Artois
8. Genealogical Manuscript of M. Joigny de Pamele
9. Register of Ypres beginning 1509
10. Fonds Goethals Manuscripts, Genealogists, Genealogical Coats of Arms
11. Fond Merghelynych Furnes

It is probable that Abraham Hasbrouck knew Governor Edmund Andros and had served with him in the English Army, and it is also probable that he spoke English. Calais belonged to the English until 1658. Andros served in Prince Rupert's Dragoons and the inference is that Abraham Hasbrouck also served with this military unit. It is my belief that Abraham Hasbrouck threw up his commission and went to America as incident to the disbanding of the English army by Charles the Second, in October 1660. This is a most interesting speculation and I am to continue my researches abroad in Flanders and I propose to very soon take up a search in England. The family was evidently a very prominent one and this makes the search fairly easy. If Abraham Hasbrouck served in Prince Rupert's Dragoons there should be somewhere in the English archives a record. What I am most anxious to establish is the connection between Abraham and Jean Hasbrouck in America and the Van Hazebroucks or de Hazebroucks in Flanders. A fairly good clue to date is this name of Adrien and the fact that Adrien Hazebrouck has a chateau whose location is given.....

Letter from Municipal Archives, Speier

April 16, 1925

Sir:

.... The Church Records of the Free City of Speier from the year 1593 on, have been preserved in the Archives of the City of Speier. In Speier, however, after the Reformation, the Lutheran religion was the established faith while the Reformed or Calvinistic faith was merely tolerated. If the Hasbrouck-Hyaar family originally came from Flanders, Holland, or France, then they belonged to the Calvinistic or Reformed Church refugees who were admitted to one of the Flemish or Walloon foreign colonies in the Palatinate. Such colonies or congregations existed in Frankenthal, Otterberg, Lambrecht, Billingham, Schonau, Heidelberg, Mannheim, Friedrichsfeld, Oppenheim, Annweiler, Nischweiler, Zweibrucken, and Worms. Pastor Wilhelm Cuno has devoted especial interest to their history - see "Pfalzisches Memorabile XIV". Cuno also refers to a Walloon colony in Speier dating from the year 1572 on. Information regarding it, however, is extremely meagre. Nothing more is known of the birth, marriage, and death records. As the only Reformed Church records of the German Reformed Congregation that have been preserved date from 1750, they would contain no information of interest to you. The Lutheran Church records were also thoroughly examined but without any success. The names also do not appear in the official list of the citizens or in the "Aufschwörbücher" nor in the Immigration records.

From the Oberburgermeister of Mannheim

April 17, 1925

The Municipal Archives do not contain any documents regarding immigration and emigration. The research work instituted on the basis of your letter only revealed the record of a Property Deed regarding the transfer of a piece of property on October 24, 1684.

"Peter Hasebrouck, citizen, and Barbara, his legal wife" are mentioned in this document. A copy of this document can be furnished if desired, but it contains nothing more of genealogical interest outside of the above. Citizenship records of the 17th century do not exist.

Records of births, marriages, and deaths must be procured from the Church Records of the Evangelical Protestant congregations. The Evangelical Gemindeamt, Mannheim R. 3. 3. is in charge of the Church Records and can furnish this information and will prepare copies of entries for the stipulated fee.

In the investigations regarding the Hasbrouck family, we have found the following entries in the Church Records:

- a. Nothing in the Church records regarding Emigration permits.
- b. In the period 1600-1670, the name Hasbrouck is only mentioned once, namely in a Family Register of the French Reformed Church (1667) as follows:

Jean Hasbrouck Le viele (Senior)

Jean Hasbrouck Le yeune (Junior)

There is no mention of the name in the Family Registers of the years 1665/66 (before the Plague in the year 1666). Therefore Jean Hasbrouck arrived in Mannheim the end of 1666 or the beginning of 1667.

- c. There are no entries in the French Church Records in the year 1672-1676, but the following appears in the Family Records of the German Reformed Church:

Peter Hasbrouck - 1673.

Pastor Werenfels officiated at this Church.

- d. There is no record of the marriage of Elizabeth Hasbrouck and Pierre Hyaar.
- e. The names Hasbrouck and Hyaar do not appear in the Church Records of the French and German Reformed Churches in the years 1675-1676.

- f. The death Records running to the year 1725 have been lost. Therefore no record could be found of the death of a Hasbrouck or Hyaar.
- g. The names Hazebroucq or VanAsbroeck do not appear in any of our church records.

Letter from MAJOR JOHN E. HASBROUCK

September 16, 1928

My dear Judge:

The name Hasbrouck (Hasebreucq or Hazebroucq) is descriptive and has the meaning of "The March of the Hares." This designation was given to the country south of Cassel in Artois by St. Eloi, Bishop of Noyon, who in the reign of Dagobert III (711-715 A. D.) converted that country to Christianity.

The good saint described the inhabitants of the principal settlement just south of Cassel (the modern city of Hazebrouck) and speaks of the "ruling family" in this settlement whom he denotes as "de la Haesbreucq". Modern Hazebrouck has acknowledged the saint's participation in their history by naming their principal church after him---so much for the name, its meaning, and its antiquity.

When the documentary history of Artois begins in the 12th century, the Haesbreucq family was already prominent in the military and civil life as Seigneurs of Haesbreucq and held high positions under the counts of Artois. They spread from Hazebrouck to Ypres, and to Boulogne and were fairly numerous in the country between those two places. Politically they were liegemen of Artois and as the counts of Artois were counts of Flanders & vice versa they came also under Flanders. In 1288, however, they took the part of Philip LeBel, King of France and Count d'Artois against Guy de Dampiers, Count of Flanders, and from then until the Battle of Cassel in 1320 held their Seignury for France.

By winning the battle of Cassel, Guy de Dampiers took possession of that country and assigned the Seignury de Hazebrouck to one Ingelram Hanweel, Seigneur d'Aveschoot.

Here one runs into a snag which so far even the French commentators have failed to clarify. One of them says, "During the dismemberment of the fiefs of the Chatelaines of Cassel and Bourbourg one finds numerous persons whose given name is followed by the name d'Hazebrouck, but it is impossible to say whether they are from the ancient family d'Hazebrouck or of the new family, that of Hanweel, which possessed a portion of the Seignury."

French and Flemish Genealogists, notably Goethals (who sold Gen. Sharpe the fake coat of arms in 1852) have vainly tried to attach the Hasbrouck names to Ingelram Hanweel, but the discrepancies are so frequent as to raise considerable doubt whether any Hanweel ever used the surname d'Hazebrouck. This so-called Hanweel-Hazebrouck pedigree is fairly well developed and extends from 1328-1650. I cannot believe, however, that it has any connection with our American family as it was in 1328 after the Battle of Cassel that Hasbroucks migrated to the Pays Bas (Low Countries) and established the Holland branch of the family and went north into the Pays de Calais.

To determine the ancestry of our American family, we have as a starting point Col. Abraham's statement that "Abraham Hasbrouecq" was a native of France of the town of Calais." In examining the records in and around Calais, I find that the "Calaisis" or district formerly the county of Guines is uniformly called simply "Calais" so that opens the premise that Abraham was from the vicinity of Calais more probably than actually of the town.

Tracing the ancient family we find that in 1206 one Gelles d'Hazebrouck was Governor of Boulogne-sur-Mer for the Count de Guines, also Count d'Artois. Following the records of Guines, we find between 1206 and 1300 the names Gelles, Baudoin, Henri, Jehann and Jacques d'Hazebrouck as Chevaliers and officials under the Count de Guines. In 1316-1328 we find Jean d'Hazebrouck Chevalier, Bailiff of Marck (which is about five miles northeasterly of Calais). From then until 1650 the name does not appear so frequently in this district, but there is good evidence that it was a family of substance during that period.

Religion now enters into the search and as, under the English regime which did not end at Calais until 1657, a goodly portion of the inhabitants of the district were Protestant, it is among the Protestant records that we must hope to find clarifying records. Unfortunately, the Protestant Church at Marck was burned about 1640 and the Protestant population of that district were forced to go to Guines to worship and receive the sacraments of baptism and marriage. The early records of the Guines Church which have been preserved to us date only from 1660 but we do find that Peter Hazebrouck, mechanic, was fined at Guines Aug. 31, 1624 for being a Protestant.

Now the fragmentary letter claimed to have been written to Jean & Abraham Hasbrouck together with the diary of Col. Abraham taken in conjunction with the church & town records of Manheim (which were procured for me by Capt. Raymond DeLancey Hasbrouck) give a set-up about as follows:

JEAN HAZEBREUCQ---ESTHER.....Recorded in Manheim 1676. "Mother" mentioned in letter.

1. JEAN - Recorded in Manheim 1667. Letter of dismissal from Manheim 1672. America 1673
2. ANDRIES - mentioned in letter
3. ELIZABETH - mentioned in letter. Married PIERRE HAAYAR c/o Diary
4. PETER & wife BARBARA rec'd in Manheim 1673 and October 24, 1684
5. ABRAHAM. America 1675

This set-up confirms the premise that Marck and Guines are the sources from which we must obtain the ancestry. The names Jean and Peter occur in the Guines records and, even after the departure of our line we find the name Jean, for on Sept. 6, 1671, Jean Hasebroucq and Jeanne Pottin acted as Godfather and Godmother at a baptism in Guines and on Sept. 23, 1668, Marie Haayar was married at Guines, showing that family to have been also of the Calaisis.

It is of general interest to New Paltz and the Patentee families that in my Hasbrouck researches in Artois and Guines, I find the DuBois & LeFever family occupying the same social and official status under the Counts of Artois and Guines as did the Hasbroucks.

Professor Hassebrauk in Dresden and Dr. Hassebrauck in Braunschweig are very interested.

Also Dr. Hassebrauck found some Hasbroeks and Hasebroeks in Braunschweig and other places. I noted also these occurrences for I have the steady opinion that all the forms of name are coming from the same origin.

Mr. Wensch in Dresden found in the "Agnenstammkartei" only the following lines of Hasebroek:

That's a line in Holland! It seems all in all that Holland is the country from which the Hasbrouck/Hassebrauk/Hasebroek families are coming.

To come out of a list of Ancestries of "Agnenstammkartei", I received over some addresses a hint to the principal of the union of the Huguenots in Germany, Mr. Fouquet in Flensburg. To that place and also the Bibliotheque Wallone in Leyden/Holland I wrote some weeks ago.

Also I heard that Dr. Freiderichs, Frankfurt/Main has elaborations of the priesters of Hanau. But I don't know if he is still living and among our Hasbroucks there are no priesters. So it seems that the possibility to found anything on this way is too little. The reformed churches of Magdeburg (I reminded several times!) don't answer, but I think if the church-books of the reformed old French-Wallone-church are no more existing, long since they had announced that. Now they have the designs of the Dismissla of the church at Mannheim and with this the argument that the Hasbroucks were members of this church, so it goes by no way and at least they must find the birth records of the two children born before the emigration and also I hope the marriage record must can be found.

Now a question: all your documents you sent me like Dismissla, Letter of Speyer, Charity of the nobility (Hasbrouck) and so on you send written in English. I think that the originals are written in French, for also the Church of Mannheim (or Hanau) and of all the old Hasbrouck in Speyer have served the French. And the originals may say something in other words than the translation in English. I'm also able to read and translate French and should be more sure to have the right declarations. Yourself, a descendant of the Huguenots surely speaks also the language of his fathers. But our correspondence we continue in English. It's lighter.

Berlin

April 14, 1958

.....

I am sending you a photostatic copy of our coat of arms, which we have in our family since centuries.

It is also very interesting for me to note during my stay in Hazebrouck in June 1952 that the same coat of arms appears at the special entrance in the church of the town of Hazebrouck. After the department of the Hazebrouck family from the town of Hazebrouck, this special entrance, which was for private use of the family, have been closed by masonry work. I am sending you a photo of the church of Hazebrouck (the pile has been demolished during the last war) as well as two snaps from the special entrance showing the coat of arms as well as from the town porter, as well as the undersigned.

According to these proofs it must be assumed that our coat of arms is the right one, anyway, for those families who think that their ancestors were inhabitants of the town of Hazebrouck.

Many thanks for the most interesting chart Mrs. Paatz send to me, but from this chart one man is missing, namely Roland d'Hasbrouck, who distinguished himself during the seige of Constantinople by the army of the crusaders.

Out of your family association I clearly see that your ancestors came from the Palatinum, whereas my ancestors left Flanders by way of Belgium apparently direct to Berlin.

Unfortunately enough, we have only little proof for the movements of those years as most of the documents went astray during the centuries and all our family documents which were kept in our Berlin home were lost during the bombardments of Berlin, in which course also our Berlin house burnt down. You in the USA are apparently in a much better position regarding all the old documents as I have seen from your letter.

THE FRENCH LETTER

With the exception of the "Abraham Hasbrouck Diary", of which copies exist but the original seems to be lost, the most important single document in the history of the family is the "French Letter" written to Jean and Abraham Hasbrouck at New Paltz. This letter was preserved in the family of Miss Annette I. Young of Poughkeepsie. A translation follows:

Speyer-Bavaria-Palatinate
The 3rd of December, 1676

My dear Children-

Having had the opportunity, through Monsieur Boidij, of giving you news of us, I have not wished to lose the occasion to tell you that we are all well, God be thanked, namely: I, my wife, your brother Andries and your sister Elizabette, hoping the same for you all.

Meanwhile we are greatly surprised that since your departure from London, about twenty months ago, we have had no news of your welfare and more especially because the gazettes are always haunting us here with bad news of your country on account of the war, which you have had against the savages; but as they tell us at present, that the savages are entirely defeated and even their King Philippe captured and beheaded and quartered, we hope you will do better for the future.

As for us we have always great wars since your departure and we are still staying in this town, waiting for better things. We have constantly lost our cattle and our harvest these two years past, and this last summer were always with weapons in hand for the Imperials laid siege to the city of Philipppbourg at the beginning of May and stayed there before it until the beginning of September, when the French came out of it.

By the capture of this city we hoped things would go a little better. However, if peace is not made, we have nothing to expect in this quarter but all sorts of misery and poverty.

Write us, as quickly as possible, how it goes in your country and what there is of it, for if it is good, I am always of the same intention as when you left here, to come and find you; but if it does not suit you at all well, I hope that you would return here near us.

If you cannot make enough to return as far as here, try to get as far as London and let us know it, and then I and your mother Esther will send you the money to the said London, for returning here.

Above all do not fail to describe truthfully how everything is.

There is no change in the house of your mother since your departure, and they live.....

* * * *

Various family historians have given interpretation of the French letter. It is my contention that the bottom of the letter was torn off purposely. The Hasbrouck family in America at this time would not desire the names of the parents or friends to be found on any item lest it should fall into the wrong hands.

Was the letter actually written by the father of Jean and Abraham Hasbrouck? I think not. In the letter the writer states, "Everything is well in the house of your mother Esther." At another place appears, "We are all well, my wife...."

There are definitely two households denoted by the words of the letter. One theory is that Esther, the mother, had remained Catholic and was in France; another is that she resided with the son Andries. Certainly if the writer were Jean Hasbrouck, father of Abraham and Jean, he would not make that first statement. My theory is that Jean Hasbrouck, the father, was probably deceased. The letter was from an old and trusted friend or the pastor of their former church. The letter assuredly reads as though written by a third party, one close to the family, but not a father or a husband.

If one observes the difference in the spelling of the names of the brothers during their early years and about 20 years later, one finds a most interesting comparison. It has been a tradition told for generations in the family that many members of the old families changed their names. This is shown by the change of signatures of Abraham and Jean. A man usually signs his name the same way throughout his lifetime. Jean and Abraham Hasbrouck did not. As they grew older and possibly less fearful, they spelled their names as they should be. The early signature was Brœcq or Brouck, or in Abraham's case, Assbroecq. Later on Abraham spells his name more or less correctly Assebrouck and even Hasebrouck.

The name Freer is an interesting one. It does not seem to have any counterpart in French except that "frere" means brother. We note in the early records that Hugo Freer (spelled "frere" or "ffrere") married Maria Haye. The name Haye has not been found in French records, but the name Hayaar has been recorded. The sister of Jean and Abraham Hasbrouck was Elizabeth who married Pierre Hayaar. Could it be possible that Hugo Freer was Hugo "brother" or "brother-in-law", having married Maria Hayaar, a relative by marriage of the Hasbroucks.

The Beviers were definitely related to the Hasbroucks, and of course, the Deyos who had already married into the family before coming to America. They came to Boston on the same ship.

III. #5 JEAN HASBROUCK MEMORIAL HOUSE

This residence, now headquarters of the Huguenot Historical Society of New Paltz, New York, Inc., since 1893, is the homestead of the Jean Hasbrouck branch of the family. The original portion was built in 1693 by Jean Hasbrouck, the Patentee. In 1712, it was enlarged to its present size. It is maintained as a museum on Huguenot Street, New Paltz, New York

III. #6 ABRAHAM HASBROUCK HOUSE

This is the ancestral home of the numerous descendants of Abraham Hasbrouck, the Patentee. The north section was built about 1693/4. Two additions were made by 1712. It is located on Huguenot Street, New Paltz, New York. This is the residence that the Hasbrouck Family Association is in the process of purchasing and placing under the permanent care of the Huguenot Historical Society.

III. #7 COL. JOSIAH HASBROUCK HOUSE - "LOCUST LAWN"

Built in 1814 by Col. Josiah Hasbrouck, who was a lieutenant in the Revolutionary War and who received his commission as colonel for service in the Ulster County Militia, the house stands on Route 32, Town of Gardiner, about four miles south of New Paltz. The house was opened as a museum on July 5, 1955.
It was given to the Huguenot Historical Society in 1958 by Miss Annette I. Young, a direct descendant of Col. Josiah Hasbrouck.

- III. #9      GUILFORD BOWER
Joseph Hasbrouck, son of Abraham, the Patentee, built this house about 1706. It stood near the Wallkill River and was destroyed by fire in 1856. The Guilford branch of the family, which is very numerous, built a brick residence to replace the homestead. Only a door has been saved from the original dwelling and this was used in the back portion of the new home. The drawing was done by Dr. Alfred Hasbrouck in 1894.
- III. #10     HASBROUCK POWDER HORN
This powder horn, owned by Mr. Milton Hasbrouck, is now in the Memorial House Museum on Huguenot Street, New Paltz. It was used during the French and Indian War and the Revolution by General Joseph Hasbrouck of Guilford, and is one of the finest of its kind. The hand carvings give the story of the battles and places of importance during the wars.

III. #11 ARMS USED BY MOST AMERICAN HASBROUCKS.

This coat of arms is the one generally found in homes of Hasbrouck (Hasbrook) families in the United States. Note the same motto, "God Save Hasbrouck," or "God Help Hasbrouck," as is to be seen on the arms sent by Consul Erwin vanHazebrouck. The arms is supposed to go back to the 14th century and the days of the crusades, when Charles V granted it to the family. The emblazoned shield is surmounted by a male figure (a Moor) with an arrow in one hand and a torch in the other.

The family of HASBROUCK (HAZEBROUCK) has been noted for prominence in legislative halls, foremost among educators, safe counsellors in administration of justice and judicious in business matters. Throughout the history of our nation, there have always been representatives of the family in the military field.

III. #12 HASBROUCK COAT OF ARMS.

This coat of arms comes to us from Mr. Richard B. Hasbrouck of Illinois, who states that it has come down in his family since the days when his ancestor migrated west. Note the hare! "Hasbrouck" means "Place where the hares march!" or "Field of the Hares".

The three photographs and coat of arms were sent to the compiler by Consul Erwin vanHazebrouck of Frankfurt, Germany. He used to return to Hazebrouck for the town festival each year.

III. #16 COAT OF ARMS D'HAZEBROUCK

This coat of arms has been in Consul Erwin vanHazebrouck's family since they left Hazebrouck about the same time as our branch fled to the Palatinate. Note that it bears the same motto as the arms generally used by the American branch of the family.

THE FOUNDING OF NEW PALTZ

In 1675 Abraham Hasbrouck joined his brother Jean and the little band of Huguenots living in Hurley, N. Y., some of whom they had known in Manheim, and it was his advent that made possible the fulfillment of a 10-year-old dream for a French settlement of their own, because of Abraham's friendship for Edmund Andros, now the King's governor.

New Paltz was unique at its very inception. Five years before William Penn's treaty with the Indians, this group of Huguenots first approached the Esopus Indians, the true owners of the land they desired. The purchase price of sturdy tools, good cloth, even horses, was hardly a bargain by Dutch or English standards. The contract of sale, signed by five Esopus chiefs, and the confirmatory deed by 21 Esopus braves, preceded the royal grant given under the hand of Edmund Andros September 29, 1677. All three documents are on display at the Huguenot Historical Museum. The result of their fair dealing is apparent. They built the "Redoute" required by the governor as "a place of Retreat and Safeguard upon Occasion" but never, even during the troubled Revolutionary period, was this settlement in danger of Indian attack.

In 1678 then, the twelve Patentees and their families proceeded to their new home. According to tradition, all their worldly goods were carried on three ox carts, but from the size and quality of the furnishings remaining to us, that seems doubtful. Upon reaching their destination on the west bank of the Wallkill River, they built log cabins which were replaced by stone dwellings about 1700. They named the place New Paltz in honor of Pfalz-am-Rhein where they had found refuge from the persecutions of Louis XIV.

The people owned the land in common and, by that arrangement, the product of their labors went into the common store. For fifty years the heads of the twelve families met in legislative and executive session to administer the affairs of the Paltz. In 1728, owing to the fact that the Dutch inhabitants were increasing in number, the twelve men were elected by popular vote of all the property owners in the community. The council was called "Duzine" meaning twelve. They apparently exercised rather wide powers, so that their enactments had to be ratified by an Act of the Legislature, confirming unto the owners the partition of land made by the "twelve men" dated 1785 and signed by Governor George Clinton. The Duzine continued to function until 1826.

THE JEAN HASBROUCK HOUSE

Architects have shown that the original part of the Jean Hasbrouck Memorial House, the present kitchen with a loft above, was built about 1692-4. This was enlarged by 1712 by building two rooms, the hall, and the living room and placing the present steep roof over the entire structure. It is now owned by the Huguenot Historical Society and is open to the public. Having become a museum in 1899, it serves as a place to display ancient relics and documents pertaining to the early settlers.

Steps lead up from Huguenot Street to the front door. It appears that the road bed was lowered, leaving the house on a higher level than it was originally. This is the only one of the old houses with a hall. It was to serve the settlement as a store also, and the center hall ensured privacy to the residents. A section of the interior wall has been opened to show the construction of clay mixed with straw and hair and hand-made lath.

The first room to the right was the store. The original bar, over which rum was sold, still stands in the front room.

The Hasbrouck-Innes-Young room to the northwest has been furnished in the style of the period. The great tester bed with its fine quilts and coverlets, the huge Dutch "kaas" or wardrobe, the chest brought by Louis DuBois from France, the old Bible printed in Geneva in 1658 are treasures indeed.

Upstairs the huge brick chimney rises from an open fireplace below. Beams pegged together form a network high above. All the produce of the fields was stored under this lofty roof. Household and farming utensils of all kinds are on display: the great loom, the flax breaker and hetchels, sausage makers, cradles, and for the out-of-doors pigeon nets, fishnets, and the skates upon which Major Isaac LeFevre in 1791 skated from Highland to Albany and back in one day.

A fireproof and weatherproof vault was recently built in the cellar to preserve rare documents and manuscripts.

In the kitchen to the southwest is the enormous Dutch fireplace with its hood and mantelshelf. The fire, after the Dutch manner, was built against the wall and the hanging hood gathered the smoke. Originally there were two such fireplaces in the house but one was removed completely many years ago. The great lazy-Susan in the cellar is one of the finest of its kind in existence.

The house is almost square. Its symmetry, stonework, and clear-cut lines give it dignity and simple beauty. Its nearest counterpart is Washington's Headquarters at Newburgh, built in 1752 by Jonathan, the great-nephew of Jean Hasbrouck.

THE ABRAHAM HASBROUCK HOUSE

This house, built directly across from the present Reformed Church, is a fine example of how additions may be made without losing the perfection of the whole architectural scheme. When a member of the family married, an addition was put on the house as well as on the family tree. Here we have a variance in levels of rooms on the ground floor which is a feature of many old stone houses. In going from the main living room, called the Room of Seven Doors, to the adjacent north room, one goes up three steps.

The house was built between 1698 and 1712 by Abraham Hasbrouck the Patentee and his son Daniel. It has been the subject of numerous stories and legends. One of those unexplained but persistent bits of folklore gives this home a ghostly visitor - a man followed by two black dogs can be seen prowling around the south end of the house. Then a moment later, through the window of the bedroom, his form is seen bending over the bed with an ax uplifted to strike the sleeping occupant. But no one knows who the man was nor the name of his victim. A secret room in the attic also intrigues the visitor.

One of its most interesting rooms is the cellar kitchen. The six sons of Wyntje Hasbrouck, the second mistress of this household, gathered with the young men of the village before the great fireplace to engage in their favorite sport, cock-fighting. Each man had a prize rooster and contests continued far into the night. It is very interesting to note that in the floor of the north room above the kitchen is a small trap door. One wonders if Wyntje used to check on her sons by this means.

On the latch of the door in this room, one may see the "witch's mark". Although the early settlers were deeply religious, they, like their contemporaries, were also inclined toward superstition.

The house was recently purchased from the heirs of Ivar Evers and it is hoped that through the joint efforts of the Huguenot Historical Society and the Hasbrouck Family Association, it will soon be opened to the public as a museum.

THE HASBROUCK FAMILY ASSOCIATION

The first meeting of the Hasbrouck Family Association was held in New Paltz October 12, 1957 and an Executive Committee was formed for the following purposes:

1. To raise funds to preserve and restore the Abraham Hasbrouck House in New Paltz.
2. To provide an endowment fund of $30, 000 in five years to care for the house in perpetuity.
3. To pay the remainder of the purchase price over a period of years so that eventually the Family will own the homestead completely.
4. To obtain data from every member of the Family to complete the Hasbrouck family genealogy.

The officers are:

Kenneth E. Hasbrouck - President
Gen. Sherman Hasbrouck - Vice-president
Mrs. Robert W. Anderson - Secretary
Mrs. Marcelle Hull Littell - Treasurer

Members of the committee are:

Paul D. Hasbrouck
Col. Augustin G. Rudd
Joseph E. Hasbrouck, Jr.
Robert Hasbrouck Wyld
Mrs. Linus F. DuRocher
Mrs. William F. Hasbrouck
Mrs. John F. Wadlin
Capt. Thaddeus Hasbrouck

With the cooperation of members of the family, these goals seem possible of achievement. The Association now numbers 167 and we are happy to receive as members any Hasbrouck descendant who wishes to assist in the restoration and preservation of our historic homestead.

The HASBROUCK FAMILY COMMITTEE in 1961 is as follows:

Mr. Kenneth E. Hasbrouck, President
 Mrs. Robert W. Anderson, Secretary
 Mrs. Marcelle Hull Littell, Treasurer
 Gen. Sherman V. Hasbrouck, Vice President
 Gen. Robert W. Hasbrouck, Washington, D. C.
 Mr. Paul D. Hasbrouck, Chaplain
 Mrs. Appleton Gregory, Kingston
 Mr. Isaac Guy (George) Hasbrouck, San Anselmo, Cal.
 Mrs. Paul Whittier (Olive Hasbrouck), Goude Island
 Mr. Richard Hasbrouck, Old Goshen Rd.
 Mrs. Bernard Michelson, N. J.
 Miss Annette I. Young, Poughkeepsie
 Mr. Alfred Hasbrouck, Hooker Ave., Poughkeepsie
 Mrs. Ruth Hasbrouck MacDowell, Gardiner, N. Y.
 Mr. Ferdinand DePuy Hasbrouck, N. J.

The Family Association now consists of over two hundred members. These constitute both pledge and annual members. Pledge members are those who give a sum of $20 each year for five years to provide an endowment. Annual members pay $2 each year. A smaller group consist of those who have financed the purchasing of the Abraham Hasbrouck House.

The Family Association needs the cooperation of every member of the family.

writing, and this alone to be taken for my last will and testament and no other. Imprimis I commend my soul to God Almighty my Creator and to Jesus Christ my Redeemer and to the Holy Ghost my Sanctifier and my body to the earth whence it came to be buried in a Christian manner and then to rest until my soul and body shall be reunited on the day of judgment and enjoy the eternal gladness of immortality which God by his grace has by the sole merits of our Saviour promised and prepared for all who sincerely believe in him, in their hearts. Second and Concerning such worldly estate of land, houses, negroes, goods, cattle, accounts, gold, silver coined or uncoined etc. as the Lord has been pleased to grant far above my merits, I order give and dispose as follows:

"3rd. It is my wish and will that all my honest debts shall in due time be paid.

"4th. I give to my son Jacob Hasbrouck and to his order or heirs all my land lying within the boundaries of the patent of New Paltz nothing excepted with house, barn, and all my other buildings thereon being and standing, also my wagons, ploughs, harrows, and everything thereto belonging and also my two negroes name Garret and James. Further the gun and what belongs to it and the clothing of my deceased Isaac Hasbrouck and all my books excepting those hereafter bequeathed to my daughter Elizabeth, also one just half of the balance of my whole personal or movable estate excepting what hereafter is bequeathed to my daughters Mary and Elizabeth, for which he shall turn over and pay as by these presents is hereafter directed on condition that his oldest son shall first have for himself his order or heirs the piece of land lying between the lands of Abraham DuBois and my daughter Mary along the Paltz on the south of it and at the north of the New Paltz Village.

"5th. It is my will and wish that if my son Abraham Hasbrouck who removed from this Province should be alive and return here my son Jacob shall deliver to him a good horse his privilege of his first born and shall also give to him for himself his order or heirs one just half of my whole real estate as it has been devised to my said son Jacob, and my said son Abraham shall have nor make any further claim on my estate.

"6th. I give to my daughter Mary and to her order, heirs, the sum of fifty-seven pounds current money of New York due me from Abraham Rutan according to bond forty-two pounds and from Pieter DuBois according to bond fifteen pounds. I also give to her all that she has heretofore had from me and shall make no further claim on my estate.

"7th. I give to Pieter Guimar only son of my deceased daughter Hester the sum of fifteen pounds current money of New York which my said son Jacob is to pay to said Pieter Guimar when he marries or comes to be twenty-one years old, but if he should die before marrying or reaching the age of twenty-one my son Jacob shall be relieved from paying said sum of fifteen pounds.

"8th. I give to my daughter Elizabeth her order or heirs the sum of sixty pounds current money of New York which I have now by me on cash and also my negro woman named Molly, also three books, one Testament, the Practice of Devotion, and a book of Sermons written by Pieter DuMallin and printed in the French Language, also the just half of my whole personal or movable estate excepting what hereabove has been bequeathed, on condition that when the negro woman Molly bears children, Jacob shall have the first daughter but must leave her with the mother until she is one year old.

"9th. It is my wish and will that if my son Jacob should die without a child or children lawfully begotten by him all that is hereby given to him shall go to my two daughters Mary and Elizabeth their order or heirs, to be divided between the two as follows: Elizabeth shall first have my house, barn, lot, and the orchard behind the barn and the pasture land lying between the pasture of Abraham DuBois and my said daughter Mary, and all the rest they Mary and Elizabeth shall share equally.

"10th. It is my wish and will that if my said daughter Elizabeth die without child or children the share herewith devised and bequeathed to her shall go to my son Jacob and daughter Mary, their order or heirs, to be equally divided between them.

"11th. It is my wish and will that should my son Jacob and my daughter Elizabeth both die without child or children the shares hereabove devised and bequeathed to them shall go to the two sons of my said daughter Mary named Daniel and Philip and to their order or heirs to be equally divided between them.

"12th. I appoint as executors of this my last will and testament, my said son Jacob Hasbrouck and my cousin Andries LeFever and Louys DuBois, demanding that this my last will and testament may be obeyed and carried out in every part. Thus done at my house on the day and year above.

The mark of JAN (IHB) HASBROUCK (L. S.)

He was justice of Ulster County in 1722 and in the same year with justices John Hardenberg, Roelof Elting, and Ancrop, an Indian, definitely located the southwest corner of the Paltz Patent at Moggonck. He was eloquent in speech, highly respected, affable and agreeable. He spoke French, Dutch, and English. His career was lamentably short and his wife, who survived him forty years, bravely raised her family of ten children, many of whom rose to eminence. The stone of brown sandstone which marks his resting place in the old Huguenot Ground bears the oldest date there. His wife is buried beside him. His wife died after an illness of 26 days. The old Hasbrouck Diary states she "was a woman of tall stature, good features (but a spare face, not broad) dark blue eyes, brown hair. Her funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Maurice Goetschius from Ecclesiastes 7-2."

Will of JACOB HASBROUCK - New York Surrogate's
 Liber 23, p. 196

Dated 9-25-1747, pro. 9-15-1760

Our undertaking be in the name of God, be it made manifest to all that on the 25th day of September, 1747, Cousine Jacob Hasbrouck, inhabitant of New Paltz in the County of Ulster finding myself of perfect understanding, for which praise be rendered to God, I direct all debts to be paid and after payment of debts my wife is to have the choice of a negro man and woman, all the furniture she choose and two cows, as long as she lives, and then to my three children: Benjamin, Isaac, Jacob. She shall also have the choice of two rooms in the house for her to dwell in so long as she lives and my three sons shall each of them pay her £6. yearly. I leave to my son Benjamin my lands which I hold in the New Paltz patent both divided and undivided from the high mountain to the great valley with the house and barn and he is to pay to my son Isaac £50 and to Jacob £40 because his proportion of land is esteemed better. I leave to my son Isaac all the lands I hold at Caiseraique (Kyserike) and the house and barn which I bought of John DuPuy and Benjamin shall pay him £50 in order to make them equal. I leave to my son Jacob £1020 and Benjamin is to pay him £40 to be paid out of the money and bonds in my house and he is to have the choice of all my bonds and mortgages. I leave to my three sons all my lands that I have from the Great Valley unto the Main River both divided and undivided, also the lands that I have at the end of.....great place. I leave to each of my sons a negro wench if negro wenches there be and if not they shall have in negroes as much as the wenches shall be thought worth. I leave to each of my sons two Horses, two Cows, four Sheep, cart, plough, spade and hoe as Isaac had when he married. I leave to my three sons all demands which I have against Andrie Bevier and all the remainder of my estate, Negroes, Gold, Silver, Cattle and in general everything. If all my sons should die then I leave my estate to the sons of Isaac (not named) and if he dies then to my sister's children (not named). I make my wife Ester and my three sons executors. My wife shall not have the power to dispose of anything without consent of the executors, nor they without her consent. What I have written I again repeat must be performed punctually from point and to point.

Both are buried in the old churchyard at Kingston. He located at Kingston where he carried on the mercantile business for 31 years. Colonial Assembly 1759-1752 and 1756-1758. State Senate 1781-1782. Provincial Congress.

In June, 1763 he was one of the Commissioners appointed to lay out the route in Ulster County from Goshen to Kingston and then to Albany called the King's Highway. 9-2-1775 he, with Christopher Tappen, Joseph Gasherie, Dirck Wynkoop Jr., and Samuel Bayard, removed the state records from Kingston to a place of safety in Rochester. He was an old man when the Revolutionary War commenced and did not engage in active service. He was usually called "Colonel" and was Lieutenant Colonel appointed 2-13-1776 of the Northern Regiment of militia of Ulster County.

He bought from his mother the homestead at Guilford and settled thereon his son General Joseph. He was a large property owner and a man of wealth and influence. On October 16, 1777 when the City of Kingston was destroyed, his house, two barns and shop were burned. Under date of March 13, 1776 he sent a letter to the legislature. Continuing to feel aggrieved at the appointment of George Clinton as brigadier-general in preference to himself, he persists in his refusal to serve as colonel. On May 1, 1776 he was appointed adjutant of the first Regiment of Militia of foot in Ulster Co.

In the diary kept by Abraham Hasbrouck are recorded memoranda of extraordinary storms and unusually severe weather occurring in different years during the eighteenth century which it may be interesting to notice. It appears that there were great swarms of locusts in the several years 1724, 1741, 1758, 1775. He states that in the month of June, 1724 there was a tempestuous shower attended with great winds and very severe thunder and lightning and rain together with hailstones as large as pullet eggs, to such an extent that the fields were in a short time overflowed with water, and grain, apples, and young fruit trees were destroyed. In June 1751 there was a shower of similar character. In the winter of 1737 there was a great fall of rain which froze on the trees as it fell and so loaded them with ice that thousands of them broke in pieces by the great weight of the ice. On the 17th and 18th day of May, 1758 there was a very great flood of water and on the 24th of the same month there was a storm which he thus describes: "Then we had a tempestuous and violent shower with rain, wind, and hailstones very large. Wind NNE which destroyed all the rye, apples, and gardens, and almost all the fruit trees are damaged. Almost all the glass lights in the houses and churches facing to the NNE are beat to pieces and broken. The very apple trees which are but young, the bark was beaten loose by the weight and violence of the hailstones that fell. Some fowls of the air were struck dead by the hailstones that fell upon them." In the year 1770 there were vast quantities of worms during the month of July and in 1773 large numbers of caterpillars doing great damage, the caterpillars making special havoc in apple and oak trees. In October, 1779, there was an unusually great flood and on the 9th of May, 1781, there was another which he describes: "There was a very high or great flood at Esopus. The Rondout Creek said to be higher than it has been in 88 years past. It was about three feet higher than the flood of 1779 in October. It washed away a great deal of land, broke the bank of the creek, carried away the mills of Petrus Myn-derts and did a great deal of damage. In many places horses and cows were lost, fences carried away, etc."

"My dwelling house in Kingston took fire by accident in the roof of the house. None knows the cause of how it took fire, it being the 23rd day of October in the year of our Lord 1776 at three o'clock in the afternoon, being a violent wind and very dry. It consumed the house in a short time. Lost most of my household furniture, goods in my store or shop, and all my good linen clothes &c &c Books, Bookcase, Clock and all the goods was in the garret or loft was all consumed to a great value. The loss I sustained that day at a moderate computation is computed to at least three thousand pounds. But thanks be to the great and Good God, and all my family got out of the house unhurt (although) I was then unable to help myself. I lay abed lame in most all my limbs so that I could not go or walk as little as a first-born child and through God's mercies have saved all my Deeds, Mortgages, Bonds, Notes, books, most part of my money then by me (except) between £40 and £50 then in my counter drawer was lost or burnt. My neighbor Abraham VanKeuren's widow's house took fire also. Blacksmith shop, Abraham Louw's house, barn, Barrack, Johannis Mastin House, Petrus Elting house and Barn where David Cox's then lived in a small house where John Camian had his Silver Smith's Shop, Jacobus S. Bruyn House and Barn all took fire and Consumed and Several other houses in great danger. The loss was very great on the sufferers. Thank God no lives lost or anybody hurt. I with my family with what was saved of my goods and bedding got into the house of Mr. Egbert Dumondt and remained there to May the first 1777 and then I moved into my own house which I had built some years before. All the time was at Egbert Dumondt's I was laid up with the above mentioned lameness I had when my house burnt down. God Grant me to live now the remainder of my days in his fear and walk in the paths of righteousness and all my family, all the days of our lives and live in peace and quiet and that God of his infinite goodness will be pleased to bless me and all my family both spiritually and temporally, all the days of our lives is my ardent prayer in the name of Christ Jesus, my only Saviour and Redeemer. Amen and Amen. Nov. 10, 1777. "

He located at Newburgh where he built the stone house known as Washington's Headquarters, which Lady Washington frequently graced with her presence. Her gifts to his daughters and granddaughters are treasured heirlooms. Here were born his children, grandchildren, and great-grandchildren. He was commission Ensign 4-28-1747, Captain 10-19-1753, Lt. Col. 1774, Col. 4th Regt. Ulster County Militia 10-25-1775 to 2-27-1779. He was first supervisor of precinct in 1773. His life in every station exemplified the brightest Christian standard. He died at headquarters and is said to have been buried by the side of his two sons Abraham and Joseph at the burying ground between his house and the North River.

He was a man of marked character, of fine physique, being six feet four inches in height. His occupation was that of a farmer, a miller, and a merchant. The farm that this house is on was conveyed in 1747 by Burger Meynders. The northeast corner of the building was erected in 1750, the southeast in 1760, and the west half in 1770. The whole was embraced under one roof on the 4th of April 1782. Washington made this building his headquarters and remained here until 18 August 1783. The Hasbrouck family resumed possession of the house in the fall of 1783 and the property remained in the possession of their descendants until 1849 when the title became vested in the People of the State of New York. Jonathan Hasbrouck, to whom the property came by descent, endeavored in 1843 to organize an Association to take and hold the property and erect a monument thereon. This effort was not successful and the property came into the possession of the state by an act of the Legislature passed 10 April 1850 when the property was placed in the care of the Board of Trustees of the then Village of Newburgh,

Will of JONATHAN HASBROUCK, Newburgh - New York
Surrogate's, Liber 36, p. 166

"In the name of God Amen, I, Jonathan Hasbrouck, merchant of Newburgh, Ulster County, being in good health, all my just debts and funeral charges to be paid by my executor out of my personal estate as soon as convenient after my decease. I leave to my well beloved wife Tryntje for her own support and that of my children and their education until they respectively are twenty-one, the use and profit of my real and personal estate and until my youngest son Jonathan is twenty-one. Should my wife marry within that time, then she is to have one bed and bedding, her choice of one of my negro wenches, and all my household furniture in lieu of dower.

"Unto my two daughters Rachel and Mary £ 500 each, payable when my Jonathan youngest son is twenty-one.

"Unto my three sons Cornelius, Isaac, Jonathan, my lands and all other real estate in Newburgh, Ulster County, or elsewhere as tenants in common in fee simple, together with the residue of my personal estate in equal shares. When the youngest of them is twenty-one, such of my sons as are still living when my youngest son is twenty one shall pay in consideration of their portions in my estate unto my wife Tryntje (if then my widow and unmarried) an annuity of £20 on the first of May during said widowhood. My said two daughters for the same consideration to pay an annuity of £10 on same date and for like term as the 500 acres of land which I lately bought of the executors of Peter Remsen deceased may lie in a dead and unprofitable state to my sons not yielding anything equal to the interest of the money I gave for it now raising in value equal thereto. I authorize my executors at their discretion to sell or dispose of all or part of the same to invest the proceeds on good security until the majority of my youngest Son, then the principal and interest to go equally to my three sons. I charge all my real estate devised to them the payments of the legacies bequeathed to their two sisters and the annuity to my widow. I make my wife Tryntje, my brother Abraham Hasbrouck, and Joseph Gasherie Esq. and my son Cornelius executors.

from Kingston Freeman 12-30-1952, L. H. Zimma

"In 1757, Elias was apprenticed as a merchant in Kingston with the consent of his elder brothers, Abraham and John. By June, 1764, the apprentice was a full-fledged merchant in Kingston with the usual mercantile troubles which were intensified by the uneasy state of trade prevalent after the French-Indian war.

"Captain Elias's leading position at the beginning of the Revolution is shown by his being the third name on the Articles of Association signed by the patriots of Kingston in June, 1775. In the same month he received his commission as Captain of the Line in the Third Regiment. He recruited his own company in Ulster County and led them to Albany where they became part of the American army under General Richard Montgomery which marched north to attack Montreal and Quebec. Captain Hasbrouck accompanied the army as far as Montreal. From this place he was summoned back and reached Ulster County by December. These facts, proved by his own letters, are not in accord with tradition, which has him at General Montgomery's side when he fell at Quebec. However, in returning, he obeyed military orders. He expected to be assigned to another regiment of the Line, but the appointment fell through. Instead he was given the post of Captain of Scouts and Rangers guarding the northern frontiers, a militia organization. From the beginning to the end of the war he was constantly employed, either in this work or other important duties. For a time he was Quartermaster of the army guarding the Highlands; he served on courts martial in detecting spies and suppressing conspiracies; he was one of the outnumbered defenders of Kingston when it was burned by the British on October 16, 1777 and during 1778 1779 and 1780 transported supplies for the American troops on the Hudson. From 1780 to 1784 he extended this service to supply the French troops also.

"Captain Elias' route also reached Pennsylvania, Bethlehem Ferry, Eastown Ferry, Germantown and many taverns along the Old Mine Road from Kingston to Easton figure in his expense accounts with charges for entertainment for men and beasts, 'owts' (oats) and 'cyder' being principal items.

"In spite of his store having been burned by the British, he reestablished himself in Kingston during the Revolution and dealt in many items.

"The trade could not have been very profitable for by the spring of 1785 Elias had decided to sell his Kingston property. This consisted of his dwelling house, which probably included the store (said to be at the corner of Wall and Main Streets) and a large tract of land beginning at the inn of Capt. Evert Bogardus where the first New York State Assembly met in 1777, for 105 pounds. He received an offer for it from Abraham B. Bancker, clerk of the New York State Senate, in October 1785, alluding to a previous conversation on the subject in the spring. Whether he sold at this time is uncertain, but by June 1787, he had removed to the newly organized township of Woodstock and was elected supervisor on the first Tuesday of that month (two years and nineteen days before Washington's inauguration, not nineteen days before, as so many local histories state)

"There seems to be no doubt that he and his family resided from the first in Little Shandaken as the Lake Hill and Wittenberg regions were then called, though Sylvester's "History of Ulster County" states that he lived in Woodstock village.

"As the old town of Woodstock included Shandaken, he was practically in the center of the township and the first town meetings were held there.

"Elias Hasbrouck died toward the end of his second term of office as town supervisor, October 8, 1791. Tradition says that he passed away while out hunting and was found sitting against a stump with his gun across his knees. If so, it was a fitting end for the old warrior-hunter whose best years had been spent in dangerous service on the frontier where, at last through their own efforts, he and his brother soldiers were able to settle in peace.

"When Capt. Elias came to Woodstock he apparently owned no land except 50 acres on the P'attekil near Pacatakan, which was a part of the 500 acre tract granted by Robert R. Livingston the Chancellor, in 1779 to the sufferers from the Kingston fire of 1777.

"This original homestead is still standing, a mile from the junction of the Mink Hollow road with the main highway to Phoenicia. Recent owners have covered its front with stucco but have left its original outlines and the interior woodwork almost unchanged. A story and a half frame building and perhaps the most interesting old house in the township, wonderfully framed by the great hills at its back, its story is practically unknown, and only a search in records reveals that it was here the first town officers met; that here in the center of the old township the firelight from Capt. Elias's hearth flickered on the faces of the Revolutionary veterans from far-away New England and from the nearby towns who had adopted Woodstock as their home and were shaping its destiny; that here after his death the Widow Hasbrouck kept a tavern for the entertainment of wayfarers even then pushing along the mountain trail to the west, and for the neighbors gathering there after their day's toil.

"From this home the Captain was taken on his last journey. Today almost hidden in a briery thicket at the right of a road leading from the Mink Hollow Road to the Fisher cottage, Capt. Elias's gravestone leans propped against a tree at some distance from his grave which is directly under the road. The high-shouldered marble slab, discolored with mildew and lichen, minus a lower corner, still has a legible inscription.

The widow of General Montgomery gave a gold ring to Captain Elias for his son, named in the general's honor. It is now in the possession of Richard Montgomery Hasbrouck III. The Captain's sword is in the possession of Frank Hasbrouck of New Jersey.

John Lincklaen stopped 10-23-1792 at the home of the Widow Hasbrouck on his expedition to the Cazenovia tract.

"She was a woman of remarkable character and a lovely Christian. She married Francis Hasbrouck at the age of 13. She was the mother of eleven children, her oldest child being Benjamin Hasbrouck (this is not true). From the records of the First Dutch Fishkill Village is quoted the following remarkable incident: "Elizabeth Shear (formerly Hasbrouck) an aged and respected member of this church in September 1841 took her seat at the communion table with her daughter Mrs. VanWyck, her granddaughter Mrs. Wiltsie, her great-granddaughter Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Lee's son John Wiltsie Lee. Five generations. It was her last communion. '"

E-39 Clarissa (cont.)

Her great-granddaughter writes the following anecdote:

"After Grandpa went back to plow some more after dinner and Grandma and Mama were doing the dishes - was time for my rag doll Tally (for Sally which I could not say) to take her nap, so mama said, "Mary, take Tally and rock her to sleep and sing to her," and Grandma said, "Yes Mary, sing to Tally in your little rocking chair by Mother" (meaning great-grandmother CHE). Well, I took Tally, sat me down near great-grandma Clarissa, "By-by Tally", (loud singing.) "Child," said my greatgrandma, "be still!" So I lowered my voice. "Child, I told you to be still," again said g-granma Evertson, so I sat and thought. Mamma said for me to come in here, set in little rocking chair, rock and sing Tally to sleep - Mamma's mother said, "Sing, Mary," too - and now great-grandma says, Child, be still". If I whisper to Tally, "By-by", I'll be minding my mother and grandmother and it ought not to bother great-grandma, so I rocked, hugged Tally tighter - how well do I remember that day, Spring of 1882, and I whispered, "By-by Tally". Up jumped my greatgrandmother, Clarissa Hasbrouck Evertson, fell over that hassock--I seem to see her yet--and broke her hip! Grandma and Mama ran in from the kitchen. Mama ran out to call Grandpa Eager. Grandpa hitched horses for a quick 3 miles to the doctor, brought him from Great Bend, Pa. Meantime I put Tally to sleep, all covered, on the kitchen couch--and then I asked all three, grandma, my mother, and her father, "Was I to blame for greatgrandma's injury?" and all three said, "No, Mary, you minded both your mother and grandmother."

WILHELMUS ELTING & JANE HOUSEMAN. She inherited by her father's will 100 acres which bounded the Rusling Hill and Passaic River and stretched away over in Lodi. They built the octagon house according to Mrs. Hasbrouck's own ideas, and it is standing today in good condition (1918). She brought up two children of a deceased friend in connection with her own brood.

His obituary is worth quoting in its entirety, from the Middletown Daily Press of Feb. 19, 1881:

E-75 Augustus (cont.)

"Mr. Augustus Hasbrouck, a respected farmer residing in the Drowned Lands District, in the town of Goshen, N. Y. died on Thursday night, the 17th, of a painful disease of the bladder, which caused long and intense suffering. He was born Sept. 9, 1809, on the old Hasbrouck homestead at what was formerly called Tuthilltown, near Shawangunk in Ulster County, and belonged to the old family of that name which is so numerous in that vicinity. His father was Joseph Hasbrouck who died about 37 years ago.

"In his early life the deceased was engaged in the mercantile business in New York. In 1833, at Passaic, N. J., he married Jane, daughter of the late Rev. Wilhelmus Elting, formerly of New Paltz, then preaching in Bergen County, and they had lived together at his death 48 years. Thirty-six years of that time were spent on a farm near Passaic. For twelve years they have resided on the Richard Sears farm in the town of Goshen which Mr. Hasbrouck owned at the time of his death.

"Sixteen children were born to this couple, all of whom except two reached maturity, and ten of whom are still living. The only daughter is Mrs. Cornelia Simpson, wife of Dr. Wm. Simpson of Hoosic Falls, N. Y., formerly of Chester, this county. Two of the nine sons are Homeopathic physicians: Dr. Joseph H. of Dobbs Ferry, N. Y. and Dr. Stephen H. of New York City. Three reside at Passaic, N. J.: Cornelius H. formerly of Wawayanda, Richard & Augustus. The eldest son Wilhelmus is a farmer living near Montgomery, and the youngest is Edward S., living on the Moore farm near Middletown; David F. and Herman are at the homestead. The two physicians of the family were in attendance upon their father in his illness, with Dr. Woodruff of Goshen, and the daughter was with him continuously for three months.

"There are two brothers and one sister of the deceased living. Dr. S. Hasbrouck of Jersey City, who is 88 years old and was practicing until compelled to give up by blindness two years ago; Abel Hasbrouck, a farmer at Flemming, Cayuga Co. N. Y. and Mrs. Jane C. DeWitt of Kingston, Ulster Co.

"The deceased was a quiet, upright citizen, who probably had not an enemy in the world. He will be buried on Tuesday at Passaic. The funeral is to be held at the house on Monday, Rev. W. E. Wright of this village conducting the service."

Abstract

The following is a summary of the results of the investigation into the effect of the concentration of the solution on the rate of the reaction. The results are shown in the table below.

| Concentration of solution (M) | Rate of reaction (mol/l.s) |
|-------------------------------|----------------------------|
| 0.1                           | 0.001                      |
| 0.2                           | 0.002                      |
| 0.3                           | 0.003                      |
| 0.4                           | 0.004                      |
| 0.5                           | 0.005                      |
| 0.6                           | 0.006                      |
| 0.7                           | 0.007                      |
| 0.8                           | 0.008                      |
| 0.9                           | 0.009                      |
| 1.0                           | 0.010                      |

From the above table it can be seen that the rate of reaction increases with the concentration of the solution. This is because there are more particles of the reactants in a given volume of solution, and therefore there are more collisions between them. The rate of reaction is directly proportional to the concentration of the solution.

The following is a summary of the results of the investigation into the effect of the temperature on the rate of the reaction. The results are shown in the table below.

| Temperature (°C) | Rate of reaction (mol/l.s) |
|------------------|----------------------------|
| 10               | 0.001                      |
| 20               | 0.002                      |

From the above table it can be seen that the rate of reaction increases with the temperature. This is because the particles have more energy and therefore move faster. The rate of reaction is directly proportional to the temperature.

E-241 Luther (cont.)

His obituary from the State Journal follows:

"Luther Hasbrouck was born at Centerville, Ulster County, New York January 15, 1826, and died at Leslie, Michigan April 11, 1910 at the age of 84 years.

"Luther at the age of fifteen was left an orphan, and was obliged to earn his own living. His early education was such as all Huguenot families gave their boys. The winter of 1842, he attended school at Columbia, Michigan, residing with his brother Matthew.

"When the estate of his father was settled there was left to him about $1000.00. He invested this money in a cafe, having formed a partnership with a man in New York City. The partnership lasted about one year. Luther had the experience and his partner the money. At that time, he made a resolution that in any further business, he would handle the money and keep the books.

"After the partnership, he opened up a commission business which he followed for two years. This not proving very profitable, he left New York for Chicago. In Chicago, he was employed by a commission merchant to buy grain by the load coming into the city. He made enough money in this way to purchase a canal boat, which he ran between Peoria and Chicago.

"In 1849 the news of the discovery of gold in California gave Luther the fever. He tied up his canal boat and started for New York. He left New York in May, 1849, in company with Capt. Pike for California in a sailing vessel. Arriving in the Isthmus in June of the same year, crossed the Isthmus on foot and took a schooner for San Francisco, arriving in July.

"In Sacramento he met an old acquaintance who advised him to buy a stock of goods and go to Redding Springs. Learning that he was without means, his friend loaned him the money. A stock of goods were purchased at once, and all haste was made for Redding Springs. In six months Luther had paid back the borrowed money and had cleared $10,000.

"Being young and active and wanting some experience as he was only 24 years of age, he joined a party that was going prospecting for gold.

"In the spring of 1850, the party went as far as Yreka and had much trouble with the Shasta Indians. On the trip to Oregon they found this tribe very treacherous and troublesome. At one time, one of the men returning with provisions was shot in sight of camp, and two mules laden with grub ran off and were lost. Two parties followed the Indians for two days and at last, on the second night, came to an Indian wigwam filled with red-skins. What to do was a quandary--six men and many Indians. It was agreed to set fuse to a can of powder and throw it into the wigwam. This they did and it was thrown out twice. A third time it was tossed in and the explosion took place. Thus sixteen Indians were sent to the Happy Hunting Ground.

"A careful examination revealed all killed but a small papoose lying under some bark. The little orphan was taken to camp and the following day was given to a woman.

"In the spring of 1850, Luther Hasbrouck was surprised and captured by five Indians, carried to a camp and bound with thongs. They pierced his nose and he was compelled to wear a jewel therein. (Note by descendant: 'At the time of his death the hole in his nose was large enough to run a lead pencil through even though he had removed the jewel many years before'). He was bound to a tree and left to die. Fortunately it rained during the night and he was enabled to work himself loose.

"During the same spring, while fighting the Shasta Indians in close combat, one faced the white men and made it known that she was a squaw and pleaded for protection. The party at once saw that she was not of the same tribe. She willingly followed them to camp and later did the cooking for the party for several months until they arrived in Illinois Valley. One morning she was found missing. It was learned later that she had gone to her own tribe. Old Chief John of the Deer Creek Indians having been her father, he at once came over to the prospector's camp and told how his daughter had been stolen by the Shasta Indians and expressed his gratitude for her safe return and kindly treatment. After this Old Chief John was a great friend of the prospectors. If anything was missing in camp the old chief was notified and it was returned at once.

"After crossing the Siskiyou mountains into Oregon, they prospected down the Rogue River. The party consisted of Luther Hasbrouck, Nathan Giles, Mose Dusenberry, George Wells, Harry Lawrence, and Captain Jennings. They discovered Josephine Creek to be very rich, pay from one to two ounces ($32.00) a day. Luther washed the first pan of dirt in this creek and it averaged fifty cents to the pan and that day he washed sixteen pans. It was the first discovery of gold in Josephine County, Oregon.

"At this time they named the Illinois Valley and the river, the Illinois River. They still retain those names.

"The Illinois Indians were very warlike. A fort was built on Josephine Creek for protection. As soon as the fort was completed, it was necessary to go out for provisions. Lots were drawn to see who would make the trip. It fell the lots of Luther Hasbrouck, Mose Dusenberry, Henry Lawrence, and Captain Jennings. They went to Shasta City, purchased supplies and returned in twenty-one days. The party supposed they had independent "diggings" on Josephine Creek, but on their return, they found a mining town of tents. Probably 2000 people were in Illinois Valley. The prospectors had been followed to their new camp and as soon as the discovery had been made news was sent to California of the New Eldorado. This caused a great rush to Oregon and from this time on, southern Oregon was alive with busy placer miners. On the return of the party who went out for provisions, they found that the other four partners had taken out $2,200 besides hunting their own game and living entirely on deer meat for twelve days.

"In the fall of 1850, Luther went in partnership with Ad Miller, Samuel Grubbe and John Twist, in a general merchandise and butchering business. This partnership continued for two years and the business was sold to Mr. Derbysheer. Just before selling out the company had some cattle stolen by the Illinois Indians, and they were caught with the meat in baskets, going to Deer Creek. On being overtaken the Indians left their baskets and ran. The white men tried to arrange a settlement. The Indians promised to come to the store the next day and make things right. The next day, sixteen braves came over on the ridge near the store. Mr. Grubbe of the party went out to make peace when all at once they turned loose and shot at him but did not fatally wound him. The Indians fled to Deer Creek. The next morning they came over prepared for a fight. The white men discovered that they were on the warpath, with bows and arrows all drawn ready to shoot. Two of the white men shot two Indians before the band retreated. This was in the fall of 1852, the time of the first Indians to be killed by whites in the Illinois Valley. This was the commencement and cause of the Rogue River Indian War.

"In the fall of 1852, Luther and his three partners made a trip to Philadelphia and had their gold dust made into money. They each had $15,000.00.

"In the spring of 1853, Luther purchased a band of cattle in Missouri and drove them across the plains to Willamette Valley.

"In 1854 he took a homestead near Junction City, Oregon. Here he lived alone and raised cattle until the spring of 1860 when he again went East, and in the fall was married to Lucinda M. Ingalls at Brooklyn, Michigan. Soon after Luther and his bride set sail from New York for the home he had built in the Golden West. They took with them what seemed to be one of the seven wonders of the world, an oil lamp, the first in the West. People came for miles to see the lamp and marvel at it. Everything looked promising for the young people; a new house and barn, and cattle on many hills, but alas, the winter of 1861-62 brought a flood that covered almost the entire valley can which lasted some time. When the flood had subsided it left a sediment on the grass so that the cattle could not eat it and Luther lost his band of cattle, some 5000 head. The 60 head that were left were driven to the mountains and trees felled for them to browse on until spring. Broke but not disheartened, Luther formed a partnership with John Ferguson and they gathered up their cattle and started for Granite Creek mines in Eastern Oregon, where they butchered their cattle and furnished the miners with meat. In 1863, they moved to Silver City, Idaho and continued the business, being away from home two years. The venture proved profitable.

"In 1872 the O. & C. R. R. was completed through the Willamette Valley afford a market for wheat and stock.

"In 1874 Luther sold out in Oregon and with his family moved to Michigan and settled near Leslie. Here he purchased a farm of around 200 acres and here he lived until he died, a farmer but always a gentleman farmer for until the day he died he never wore anything but a white shirt with starched collar even in the fields.

"Soon after his marriage he joined the Presbyterian church and helped to build the first church in Lane County, Oregon.

"In his early life he was a strong anti-mason but later joined the Blue Lodge in Monroe, Oregon.

"In politics he was always a Republican. For a number of years he and his brother Lorenzo cast the only Republican votes in Lane County, Oregon."

Note by descendant, Mrs. C. E. Eckert: This mining party spoken of above was composed of the first white men to set foot in this part of Oregon. It was necessary to form some laws, etc. and to name the streams and valleys. Luther Hasbrouck was elected captain of the company and designated to draw up the by-laws of the party. The first thing was to name the streams and valleys. The river was named Illinois River and the valley the Illinois Valley because there were five men from the state of Illinois. Althouse Creek was so named after a man by that name. Sailor Diggings was named for the sea-faring man of the company, Sucker Creek drew its name for the food the company caught in the stream. Josephine Creek was named after the daughter of one of the company. All of these places still retain their names now in 1953, a little better than 100 years from the time they were named by that small party of prospectors.

"He was plame man and rather crotchety but everybody understood and liked him. She was a Spiritualist and belonged to the church of that sect in Battle Creek. "....Hiram Hasbrouck died many years before she did and she lived in the addition to the large white house while the Steven Hasbrouck family had the upright part. She was very nice looking, tall and slender, with lovely black hair always parted and waved and coiled at the back and she dressed neatly every day. Was a royal entertainer and sang and danced at parties, the life of the company of all ages. Mr. Hasbrouck was a staunch friend and befriended those whom he liked. He took a fatherly interest in my parents, Elliott and Marie (Baker) Sprague, his young neighbors to the south of his farm. And he was so nice to me as a little girl, giving me each season tree after tree in his apple orchard that we might have the fruit since our orchard was not yet in bearing - all this despite the fact that he had expected me to be a boy as their first-born. He was very plain and outspoken, liked simple things and preached frugality."

From "The History of Peoria County" we find:

"Milton Hasbrouck, one of the very early pioneers of Peoria, was born in New York October 11, 1811, and was five years old when his father Abraham died. When eighteen years of age he started out to become financially independent, and soon afterward engaged in building and operating canal-boats on the Erie Canal. He afterward went to Vienna, Oneida County, New York, where he kept a hotel for three years, and then bought a horse which carried him to Chicago where he arrived in 1834. Here Mr. Hasbrouck drove a stage and handled grain for stage-horses, and, while in the Lake City, made his headquarters at that once famous tavern called the "Sauganash". In 1835 he came to Pekin, and drove a stage between Pekin and Bloomington, and in the summer of the same year located in Peoria, where he found employment as a pilot on the little "Frontier" steamboat. This craft met an untimely fate off Towhead Island, and still lies where she was sunk, while Mr. Hasbrouck was asleep and off duty. During the five years that he served as a pilot he had in charge at various times, the "Movastar," the "Little Lucretia," the "Maid of Iowa," and the "Puritan," the latter of which was piloted down the river by Mr. Hasbrouck to Saint Louis for two or three years. He also built the Frank Voris in connection with his partners and ran the boat up the canal to Chicago until 1851. Upon first coming to Peoria he lived at what is now 207 Jefferson Street, but later moved upon the bluff to a farm of fifteen acres now covered by the city, and where he lived for thirty years. Between 1856 and 1860 he ran a mail stage between Peoria and Metamora and from 1860 until 1864, had a mail route between Peoria and Delavan, both of which were extremely profitable, the profits from the sale of newspapers alone often reaching as high as twenty dollars a day. He was a man of strong characteristics and high moral courage, and one of his cast iron convictions was that he would never run in debt for anything."

When they moved west, their elder daughter was left with her aunt, Mrs. Joseph Higgins. The following letter is still in existence:

November the 3, 1839

"My dear Child -

With a grateful heart to Mighty God I sit down to write to you to let you know that we are all well and that we received your Letter of last September and we have omitted writing to you on account of the Regiment Being Ordered to Florida and it is reported that an order will be sent yet to that effect if your father has to Go, if they go by the way of New York, I shall stop at Kingston and leave Hasbrouck there if anybody will have him, he and Elizabeth goes to School Every day. Your father is made an attendant in the Hospital. I am the Matron So we have nothing in the Garrison. We live in the house with the doctor and have half of the house as there is but three in family of them and we are verry Comfortable if we can remain where we are through the winter there is some Talk of war here with the Indians they are to be driven Farther on in the Spring and it is thought they wont go very quietly. I am very glad Aunt Sally Received you so kindly I hope I never shall be ungreatful enough to forget her goodness to you. I don't blame your uncle peter's folks for thinking hard of us for going away and leaving you unprotected in the wicked world when you ought to have your fathers and Mothers protection but O you do not know the anxious hours we pass for your sake, do but behave so as to make your Friends love you and then you will not be burthensome to them. Do write as Soon as you receive this letter and do write more particular respecting Many things you wish yourself here and I wish you was here but I dont know how long we shall be Allowed to remain where we are. Elizabeth talks about her Sister every day if She has anything new She says O how Sister wold like to See this. I will send you a lock of her hair and when you write put a lock of yours in the letter o my dear Child we though we were not hapy when we were all together in New York but O could we see the time again how Should we enjoy the happy moments but that may be that we Shall never meet again this side of boundless Eternity but if Not I trust I shall Meet Many my dear friends there but I must (close) By sending My love to All my friends and particularly to uncle Joe and uncle peter and aunt Phebe Aunt Sally and all the rest and do remember me to the Cooper family and T William Gove (?) and Robert Lister (?) anybody else that should enquite after me.

could shake the old gentleman's determination. He packed his bag and went to the depot, making sure to arrive in plenty of time for the east-bound express. But the way had been hot and tiring, his head nodded, he fell asleep there on the corner bench. The train pulled in and out again, but the old man continued to sleep. Two hours later he was discovered there. They took him home and he died within a week.

When a young man he was engaged for a time in the newspaper business at Kingston. In 1851 he started the Whig Press at Middletown. He also edited other papers. He has a steel rapier bearing date 1414 that was brought by the family from France. Dr. Lydia Sayer graduated from Hydra-therapeutic College, N. Y. and began practice of medicine in Washington, devoting some of her time to lecturing and writing. In 1856 she came to Middletown. She edited and managed several papers in Middletown, was president of the National Dress Reform Association in 1864-5, and at one time published the Liberal Sentinel advocating equal rights for women. In 1869 when Mrs. Bloomer, then editor of The Lily, advocated a reformed dress for women, Mrs. Hasbrouck adopted it and continued to wear it ever since.

from Genealogical & Family History of Central New York by William Richard Cutter, 1912/:

"When about 14 years old Daniel B. Hasbrouck worked his passage over the Erie Canal to New York by driving the tow-path six hours and alternately resting for a like period. This was in 1832, the cholera year, and since that time he has obtained a very conspicuous position among the business men of Greater New York. On account of the cholera quarantine in New York, he did not reach the city until Oct. 5, 1832, though left Albany in the Spring. In the meantime he was employed as a boatman. On arriving here he took up his residence with a cousin, Charles E. Hasbrouck, and first served two years in a wholesale grocery house, which was located at 52 N. Front St. In 1835 he engaged with Wilson & Cobb with whom he continued until 1840. He was a witness of the great fire in 1835 which destroyed every business building in the lower part of the city except John Benson's cooper plate works on Water Street. Returning to Onondaga County in 1840, Mr. Hasbrouck engaged in the manufacture of salt and other lines of commercial business. In 1851 he returned to New York and both before and after the Civil War was a potent factor in the business development of Brooklyn. He was a volunteer of the Old City Fire Department for a term of seven years, and during the Civil War was officially connected with the office of Police Commissioner of Brooklyn, rendering much service to the Union cause. During this time by his personal efforts, he secured the enlistment of many persons, who were brought before the courts, and he was largely instrumental in the recruiting of five companies of infantry and cavalry. From 1870 to 1876 Mr. Hasbrouck had charge of the bureau of election, serving two terms of three years each on a salary of $5000 a year. During the war he was contemptuously called a Black Republican, but his services at that time and subsequently have been more fully appreciated since, and this epithet is now changed in character to be a title of honor. Very early in his career, Mr. Hasbrouck became interested in the street railroads and his interest in that connection has been extended until he is identified with nearly every street transportation system in Greater New York. He is vice-president of the N. Y. Railway Co., president and director of Broadway & Seventh Ave. R. R. Co., Kingsbridge Railway Co. and Metropolitan Street Railway Co. He is vice-president and director of the Bleecker St. and Fulton Ferry Railway Co; Central Park North & East River Railroad Co; Dry Dock, E. Broadway & Battery railroad; 42nd St. & Grand St. Ferry Railroad Co; 3rd Ave. Railroad Co; 34th St. Crosstown Railway; 28th St. Railroad Co. He is a director of the Bronx Traction Co., Hudson River & Long Island Sound Railroad Co. and West 86th St. Railway Co. For some years Mr. Hasbrouck has been retired from active business, but his keen perception and broad business experience are still valuable in the management of these various transportation systems. His genial and affable manners have brought to him and retained many strong friends, and he is widely esteemed in the financial world, both as a citizen and a business man.

He married in 1851, Sarah, daughter of Jacob Bergen, whose farmhouse stood where Hoyt & Sackett Streets now meet in Brooklyn. In the year following his marriage, Mr. Hasbrouck erected his present residence on the corner. It is a commodious and elegant structure, one of the largest in that section of the city. The original farm of Jacob Bergen included 100 acres of land, reaching from the canal to the homestead of Mr. Stranahan and north from 4th St. to Baltic Street. The section was rapidly built up.

1. The first part of the report is a general introduction to the subject of the study. It discusses the importance of the study and the objectives of the research.

2. The second part of the report is a detailed description of the methodology used in the study. It includes information about the sample size, the data collection methods, and the statistical analysis techniques.

3. The third part of the report is a discussion of the results of the study. It presents the findings of the research and discusses their implications for the field of study.

4. The fourth part of the report is a conclusion and a list of references. The conclusion summarizes the main findings of the study and provides recommendations for future research. The references list the sources of information used in the study.

5. The fifth part of the report is a list of appendices. These appendices contain additional information that is relevant to the study but is not included in the main body of the report.

6. The sixth part of the report is a list of figures and tables. These figures and tables provide visual representations of the data collected during the study.

7. The seventh part of the report is a list of footnotes. These footnotes provide additional information about the sources of information used in the study and about the methods used in the research.

8. The eighth part of the report is a list of acknowledgments. These acknowledgments thank the individuals and organizations that provided support and assistance during the study.

E-605 LEWIS HASBROUCK, b. New Paltz 12-1-1795. After visiting his Hardenbergh relatives in Fallsburgh & Liberty in 1816, Louis left Fallsburgh to return to New Paltz. He has never been heard of since, and because he was heir to a large part of the Hardenbergh patent, foul play was feared. When his cousin, Cornelius W. Hardenbergh stood on the gallows about to pay the penalty for murdering some of the older inhabitants remembered that he was the last person seen with Louis. When the question was put to him, he disclaimed all knowledge of what became of Louis. Another account says his father sent a brother to ask this question. ---from Quinlan's "History of Sullivan County".

His obituary follows: "Another of the oldest and best-known citizens of this city has passed away. Jansen Hasbrouck died at his home on the Strand about noon on Saturday last. His demise removes the oldest native-born resident of Rondout. Around his bedside when he breathed his last were all the members of his family. The disease from which he finally succumbed was chronic inflammation of the bladder, with which he had been a long and patient sufferer. Mr. Hasbrouck was first stricken with the disease nearly eighteen years ago, but it did not reach an aggravated form until about two years ago since which time he had at intervals suffered the most excruciating pain and a number of times he was reported as being near death's door. His remarkable vitality even at his advanced age was such as greatly to prolong his life. But it was only a question of a brief period. The disease was slowly yet surely doing its terrible work. The past month was one of intense suffering. His last appearance upon the street was on January 13, when he attended the annual meeting of the Rondout National Bank. Shortly after that he was unable to leave his bedchamber and although all that kind care and medical skill could do were brought into requisition, the number of his days was few and the griefstricken family have now the consolation that a loving husband and kind and affectionate parent who was permitted to remain with them so long, has passed beyond human suffering.

Jansen Hasbrouck was born in Rondout on January 27, 1810 and had lived to see the little hamlet on the west bank of the Hudson grow to be a thriving and prosperous city. He received his early education at the Kingston Academy and entered Yale College at the age of 17, graduating from that institution with the class of '31. Mr. Hasbrouck lived to see one of his children graduate from the same college half a century later. He then engaged in mercantile pursuits, succeeding his father, Abraham Hasbrouck in the forwarding and freighting business in 1834, which was then carried on by means of sloops. Subsequently he became interested in a steamboat freight line between Rondout and New York, and also engaged extensively in the flour and feed business.

"In 1836 Mr. Hasbrouck was one of the incorporators of the Kingston Bank and for many years was one of its Directors. In 1848 he severed his connection with the above-named bank and became one of the founders of the Bank of Rondout of which he was chosen its first President. He held that honored position until a few years ago when he was obliged to relinquish it owing to his advanced age and ill health. He was succeeded by his nephew General George H. Sharpe, who served until forced to resign to attend to his duties in New York City as Customs Appraiser. Abraham Hasbrouck, the eldest son of the deceased, was then elected to the Presidency, which office he now holds. Mr. Hasbrouck was also a Trustee of the Ulster County Savings Institution at the time of his death. He had for several years been President of the Institution.

"During his early life Mr. Hasbrouck took considerable interest in military matters. In 1832 he was appointed Aide-de-Camp to Major General Wynkoop, commanding the Sixth Division New York Infantry, and two years later was appointed paymaster of the same division."

1. The first part of the report is a general introduction to the subject of the study. It discusses the importance of the problem and the objectives of the research. The second part is a literature review, which summarizes the work of other researchers in the field. The third part is a description of the methods used in the study. The fourth part is a presentation of the results, and the fifth part is a discussion of the findings and their implications.

The results of the study show that there is a significant difference between the two groups. This difference is statistically significant at the 5% level. The findings suggest that the treatment group performed better than the control group. This result is consistent with the hypothesis of the study.

The study has several limitations. First, the sample size was relatively small, which may have affected the power of the study. Second, the study was conducted in a controlled environment, which may not reflect real-world conditions. Third, the study did not include a long-term follow-up, which would have provided more information about the durability of the results.

Despite these limitations, the study provides valuable information about the effectiveness of the treatment. The results suggest that the treatment is effective in improving the outcome of the study. This finding has important implications for the practice of the field. Further research is needed to confirm these results and to explore the mechanisms of the treatment.

which he taught school for two years, at the expiration of which period he entered as a member of its first class upon organization, the New Jersey Normal School and after graduating again took up the work of teaching in which he continued for ten years. Toward the end of this period he turned his attention to the study of medicine and entering the Medical Department of the University of the City of New York he graduated in 1869. He practiced Homeopathy. He first practiced at Goshen, New York for one year. He moved to Newton, Sussex Co., New Jersey and became the first practitioner of homeopathy in that county. In 1875 he located in Dobbs Ferry where he continued to reside and practice his profession up to the time of his death. He was a member of the staff of the Dobbs Ferry Hospital. He was also member of the following societies: Homeopathic Medical Society of the State of New York; Westchester County Homeopathic Medical Society of which he was president for two years; New York County Homeopathic Society; the Homeopathic Materia Medica Society; the Academy of Pathological Science; and the Yonkers Clinical Club. Member of Holland Society and vice president thereof for Westchester Co. In politics he was a Republican and his first vote was cast for Abraham Lincoln in 1860. He was for many years member of the Dobbs Ferry Board of Education and trustee and president of the Greenburgh Savings Bank for 31 years. He also served 4 years as president of the village and had been health officer continuously for many years. It was in his late home known as the Livingston Place that the articles of capitulation preceding the evacuation of the British were signed in the presence of Washington and Rochambeau. Upon land ceded by the doctor on the Broadway front of his property to the Empire State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution in 1894 was erected by the society an imposing monument to Washington and Rochambeau.

from "History of Westchester Co" - Schaef: "At the age of fourteen years young Hasbrouck went to Great Falls, Mass., where he engaged as a clerk. He stayed three years, then returned home and attended the Normal School at Trenton, and afterwards entered business as a commission merchant in New York. In 1862 he entered the College of Physicians and Surgeons, and afterwards studied in the New York Homeopathic Medical College. At the close of the Civil War a colony from New Orleans, composed of persons who had been disloyal to the Union, resolved to seek a new home in Brazil. They numbered about three hundred souls, and engaged the services of Dr. Hasbrouck as surgeon to the expedition. The experiences of a few years convinced most of them that they had not bettered their condition by leaving their native country, and through the influence of Dr. Hasbrouck, the captains of some of the United States war vessels were induced to bring back the relics of the colony, who returned much better reconciled to the Government and the starry flag than when they went away. While in Brazil, he wrote a history of the practice of homeopathy in that country, which was published by the New England Medical Gazette. He was on the island of St. Thomas during the hurricane and earthquake which devastated it, and published the first description of the fearful scene of destruction. On his return he graduated from the New York Homeopathic Medical College and settled in Dobbs Ferry, where he remained three years in the practice of medicine. In 1874 he removed to New York, where he stayed until 1881, when he made a very extensive tour of Europe and the East, visiting Egypt and Palestine and most of the countries of the Old World. Returning from his travels in 1883, he settled in Yonkers, N. Y. . . . He was a surgeon in the Brazilian Army during the war with Paraguay, and while in South America passed through several epidemics of smallpox and Cholera.

"For several years, Miss Hasbrouck, who was an artist of some reputation, maintained a studio over the First National Bank on Main Street, and with a face lighted with smiles was daily seen on the street feebly walking to and from her rooms. Her face was a reflection of a heart full of tenderness and the dear old lady always had a sweet look and gentle word for the children she chanced to pass on her way. Her thoughts were ever of the beautiful in nature, and in everything she saw beauty and the reflection of God's beautiful in animate and inanimate life illuminated her face. After her years of feebleness she is now in the land where youth is eternal and the glories of the Immortal surround her path for eternity." - newspaper clipping. The announcement of sale of her estate says: "Miss Hasbrouck studied her art with the masters in Paris, among others with Harry Thompson, a very celebrated master, many of whose pupils achieved great distinction. She pursued thereafter the occupation of teaching painting in several well-known institutions of learning, among others at Dr. Wright's in Poughkeepsie. The best critics of her work praise her skill in reproducing the masterpieces of the greatest artists and call her copies wonderful. These copies have unusual value.

Her mother died in 1842. She was a music teacher before her marriage. He "deserves mention as being one of the most public-spirited citizens of St. Joseph Co., liberal minded, enterprising, and one who has been of essential value in development of this portion of country, with whose interests he has been identified for many years. He is the owner of some fine farm property located on section 27, Nottawa Twp. adjacent to the village. The parents of our subject in spring 1861 came to this county settling first at Lockport Twp. for 8 yrs. Afterwards he made his home principally in Centreville for 10 yrs. conducting a meat market. In the spring of 1878 moved to present farm near Nottowa. It is 130 acres with good buildings & other appliances of the well-regulated suburban home."

--Portrait & Biog. Album of St. Joseph Co. Mich, Chapman 1889, p. 255. He contracted to furnish bridge & spile lumber for Housatonic & Great Northern RR & was successful in the enterprise.

Mrs. Theora Hasbrouck Had Them Guessing
 (a story about our village library)

The building that is now known as the Elting Memorial Library was once the home of Oscar C. Hasbrouck and his wife, Theora Idella LeFevre Hasbrouck. Oscar Hasbrouck inherited the property from his father, Clinton Hasbrouck. Oscar kept a general store in which one could buy anything from salted mackerel to calico. He resided in the house for fifty-three years.

About 1890 Oscar Hasbrouck's health failed and his wife opened her home to teachers who wanted a place to board. This helped to defray expenses. Elting Harp used to call on Oscar Hasbrouck and bring him woodcock, quail, and partridges. Theora would can them and use them to make soup which was practically the only thing that agreed with her husband. When Oscar Hasbrouck died in 1899, his wife continued to make the house her residence except in winter when she would visit friends and relatives in Kingston and Newburgh. During the last ten years of her life she spent the winters from October to Easter with Mr. and Mrs. Elting Harp who resided on Main Street opposite the Savings Bank. She was very appreciative of the kindnesses done for her and she had many friends and was a most cheerful person.

Various people were very curious as to what she planned to do with the old stone house. When asked about it, she would reply, "It is my business," thus there came to be a local expression, "She has them guessing."

When Theora Hasbrouck died, a note addressed to Elting Harp was found in her pocket book which states, "I have trusted Elting Harp and have complete confidence in him and believe that he will carry out my wishes to the end." In her will Theora left the house to Elting Harp, the contents to Mrs. Carrie T. Harp. All personal possessions and money was given to relatives, church, cemetery association, and friends.

Shortly after Mr. Harp came into possession of the property Philip Elting who had a summer home on Lower Huguenot Street, came to Mr. Harp and asked him if he would sell the house to him to be used as a library of the village. It would be known as the Elting Memorial Library. The purchase was made for a nominal price and the library came into being. It was fitting that the library be known as the Elting Memorial Library, as the stone portion was built by Solomon Elting in 1800.

The work has been carried on by a group of trustees to the present day and is greatly appreciated by the residents of the village. The material for this article came from the memoirs of Mrs. Carrie T. Harp who wished the data preserved for the residents of our community. - K. H.

An unidentified newspaper clipping for 10-3-1954 has a feature story by Betty wood as follows:

"Ninety-three years ago, Matthew Hasbrouck stood before a house on the old toll-gate road in Convis Township and knew he had come to journey's end.

"It was, almost miraculously, home. The two front doors; the square, yet graceful appearance of the dwelling, its sturdy stone construction--all combined to be nearly an exact replica of his ancestral home in New Paltz, N. Y.

"This, then, became Hasbrouck House; still standing today as one of the oldest homes in Calhoun County and still occupied by members of the Hasbrouck family--Mrs. Max Bushong, who is Matthew's great-granddaughter, and twelve-year-old Tom Bushong, his great-great-grandson of the fifth generation.....

"Matthew had brought his family to Michigan some years before, to reside in Brooklyn, south of Jackson. As the story goes, his wife had agreed to marry him only on condition that he would leave the New Paltz Community; her reason, too much inter-marrying within the family.

"It was in 1861 that Matthew bought the 180-acre farm in Convis Township, together with the house built in 1845 which was to be his home for 22 years. Those years were pleasant ones; the land flourished, the family grew. The charming house offered warm hospitality to friends and relatives from both far and near, including cousins from New Paltz who made the long journey during the summer months.

"Then, in a chain of events which began in 1896 with the sale of the property, the house was no longer in Hasbrouck hands. For a number of years unoccupied and untended, the beautiful old dwelling gradually fell into an unhappy state. Not until 1926 did it come back into its own.

"Chiefly through the efforts of Mrs. George W. Moran, now of Marshall, a granddaughter of Matthew Hasbrouck, the house began to live again. Restored to family ownership, it once again became the warm friendly place of old. Present-day residents will recall the tea room, and antique shop which Mrs. Moran and Miss Marion N. Wilcox, also of Marshall, conducted there.

"Now owned by Mr. and Mrs. Bushong, Hasbrouck House bears the same air of quiet simplicity which characterized its beginning. Modernized only for comfort, its furnishings include many heirloom treasures handed down through the generations. Prepared to carry on the family tradition is the Bushong's son, Tom. To him--as it was to his great-great-grandfather--Hasbrouck house is 'home'."

(Special to The State Journal) - "Teaspoon Corners 'Mayor' Is Dead"--- Mr. Hasbrouck had held a prominent part in the activities of the county and especially at Teaspoon Corners where, for many years, he had been given the title of Mayor of North Leslie. He had lived on the farm where he died for the past 73 years. He was born in Linn County, Oregon and in 1872 he came with his parents as a young boy to this locality.

"Three years ago he declined to serve on the school board at North Leslie after closing a half century in that office. He had served as both moderator and director. For the past 48 years he was justice of peace in Leslie township and was at the time of his death a member of the township board. He was a graduate of the Leslie high school in 1891 and in 1899 was elected to the board of supervisors of Ingham county, serving for six years. During this period he saw the present Mason courthouse building erected."

the 1990s, the number of people in the United States who are 65 years of age or older is projected to increase from 20 million to 30 million, and the number of people 75 years of age or older is projected to increase from 10 million to 15 million (U.S. Census Bureau, 1996). The number of people 85 years of age or older is projected to increase from 2 million to 4 million (U.S. Census Bureau, 1996). The number of people 90 years of age or older is projected to increase from 500,000 to 1 million (U.S. Census Bureau, 1996). The number of people 95 years of age or older is projected to increase from 100,000 to 200,000 (U.S. Census Bureau, 1996). 1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a discussion of the mathematical model of the system.

The model is based on the following assumptions:

(a) The system is a closed system.

(b) The system is in a steady state.

(c) The system is a continuous system.

The model is described by the following equations:

(1)  $\frac{dX}{dt} = -\lambda X + \mu Y$

(2)  $\frac{dY}{dt} = \lambda X - \mu Y$

(3)  $\frac{dZ}{dt} = \mu Y - \lambda Z$

(4)  $\frac{dW}{dt} = \lambda Z - \mu W$

(5)  $\frac{dV}{dt} = \mu W - \lambda V$

(6)  $\frac{dU}{dt} = \lambda V - \mu U$

(7)  $\frac{dT}{dt} = \mu U - \lambda T$

(8)  $\frac{dS}{dt} = \lambda T - \mu S$

(9)  $\frac{dR}{dt} = \mu S - \lambda R$

(10)  $\frac{dQ}{dt} = \lambda R - \mu Q$

(11)  $\frac{dP}{dt} = \mu Q - \lambda P$

(12)  $\frac{dO}{dt} = \lambda P - \mu O$

The solution of these equations is given by:

(13)  $X = X_0 e^{-\lambda t} + \frac{\mu}{\lambda} Y_0 e^{-\lambda t}$

(14)  $Y = Y_0 e^{-\lambda t} + \frac{\lambda}{\mu} X_0 e^{-\lambda t}$

(15)  $Z = Z_0 e^{-\lambda t} + \frac{\mu}{\lambda} Y_0 e^{-\lambda t}$

(16)  $W = W_0 e^{-\lambda t} + \frac{\lambda}{\mu} Z_0 e^{-\lambda t}$

(17)  $V = V_0 e^{-\lambda t} + \frac{\mu}{\lambda} W_0 e^{-\lambda t}$

fifteenth year he attended the public schools of Peoria, and his further education was temporarily suspended owing to the necessity for his entering upon a business career. For two years he engaged as a clerk in a grocery store, after which he learned the brickmason's trade, and at the age of twenty-one had become a contracting mason, in touch with the most intelligent needs of his native city. Owing to his special aptitude and familiarity with the advancement in his line in all parts of the world, many notable commissions have come his way, and an unusual number of architectural accomplishments in different parts of the city are indirectly attributable to his skill and enterprise. Among the many residences which owe their brick construction to the ingenuity of Mr. Hasbrouck may be mentioned that of E. S. Easton, built in 1880; that of S. R. Clarke, built in 1877; of J. B. Greenhut in 1884; twenty houses for E. S. Easton at the foot of the bluff; the home of R. W. Kempshall, built in 1892; and that of C. S. Proctor erected in 1894. Among the prominent business houses of the city may be mentioned the Peoria Sugar Refinery (now the American Glucose Factory), erected in 1879, and since twice burned and rebuilt; the Great Western Distillery, built in 1881; the Manhattan Distillery, built in 1883; the Peoria Cordage Works building; the Observatory building, put up in 1889; the Opera House at Jacksonville, and the Home for the Friendless in Peoria, erected in 1891; the Woman's Club, built in 1893; the Rouse-Hazard Bicycle Factory, built in 1895; the First Church of Christ, built in 1898; the contract for the Clark Brothers Distillery, erected in 1899; the Acme Harvester Works at South Bartonville erected in 1900, and which contains* five millions of brick; and many other erections of equal importance and equal prominence in the building up of the city..... He is a Republican in national politics and is fraternally associated with the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks. The Hasbrouck home is a handsome and commodious one, and is rendered hospitable and cheery by the decided domestic tastes of the owner, who prefers the companionship found at his own fireside to that found in the busy whirl of society. unmarried. from "New York Sun" 8-29-1889:----

Corona, N. J. to be Hasbrouck, N. J. -:"A petition to the Post Office Department at Washington to change the name of this Post Office from Corona to Hasbrouck has been granted. The name was selected as a compliment to J. D. Hasbrouck, General Manager of the New Jersey and New York Railroad. Residents of the town complained that many letters went to Corona, L. I. " from "The News Letter", Hasbrouck Heights, 6-19-1918: . . . . "In early life Mr. Hasbrouck was Superintendent of the Ulster and Delaware R. R., after which he became General Manager of the N. J. and N. Y. Railroad, which position he held for over 20 years, until the road was sold to the Erie R. R.

"He was Vice-President of the Otis and Catskill and Tannersville Railways until within a few years of his death. Since his retirement he spent his winters at his home, 148 Heights Road, Ridgewood, N. J. and his summers at 'Dillonhurst', his farm at Saugerties, N. Y.

"Mr. Hasbrouck had been in failing health for several years, but up to within the past four weeks his condition had not been considered serious. He was a man of fine presence and of genial disposition, and his death will be much regretted by a large circle of friends.

". . . . J. D. Hasbrouck was always interested in our borough and back in 1890 or thereabouts, when it was decided to change the name of the village from Corona to some other name, there being a Corona on Long Island, the village fathers gave it the name of 'Hasbrouck Heights', in honor of the man who was then General Manager of the old N. J. and N. Y. R. R.

"Mr. Hasbrouck was a gentleman in every sense of the word, was easy to approach and was always ready and willing to do all in his power for the comfort and benefit of the patrons of the road. During his term of office, practically all the printing used by the road was done in the "News Letter" office, one of the many items being a monthly paper known as "The Time Table", and containing many interesting things regarding the towns and villages along the line."

F-715 GEORGE PALEN HASBROUCK, b. 11-20-1843; d. 12-15-1892; m. MARY THOMPSON LASCELLES. "In early life Mr. Hasbrouck went west, and with Gen. Fitz John Porter, was largely interested in mining operations in Colorado. He presided over the Miners' meeting held at Georgetown, Colorado, now a flourishing city, which was named for him. On his return east, he adopted journalism as a profession and for many years had control of the news department of the New York Herald, from New York to Albany, and later became a member of the Editorial Staff of that paper. He was an able and versatile writer, and up to the few months before his death, was a general contributor to all the New York dailies, and also to Puck and Judge. His last work, a short humorous story, was accepted by Harpers Magazine a few weeks ago. Of late he had given some attention to dramatic work, in which direction he showed marked power. He was Dramatic Critic for the New York Sun. He was a man of fine presence and of genial, generous disposition."

A clipping from an unidentified Michigan newspaper of 1933 was sent by a descendant:

"This is the story of a walking car that accompanied a man on a hike from Adrian to Jackson some 99 years ago, then, having performed the purpose from which it was cut, became a tree and furnished shade for its owner, his son, and the latter's son. Today the tree is growing old, its branches are breaking off and dropping to the ground. Rot is eating into its heart.

"The old tree stands on the farm of Jesse D. Hasbrouck who resides near Clark Lake, and is claimed by its owner to be the tallest tree in this vicinity. It is a balm tree. The story of its life was told by Mr. Hasbrouck's grandfather, Hiram Hasbrouck, to his son Cornelius (Casey) Hasbrouck, and by the latter to his son, Jesse D.

"My grandfather was a resident of New York state," said Mr. Hasbrouck. "He made several trips to Michigan before he settled here. At that time, 1834, the nearest railroad station was at Adrian. On his second journey to this vicinity, he got off the train at Adrian and started to walk to this farm, a distance of about 40 miles, making his way through the wilderness.

"Shortly after leaving Adrian, he cut a branch from a balm tree which he found growing by the roadside and trimmed it into a cane for use on his long hike here.

"I don't know how long he remained on the farm, but while here he planted a maple tree. Before doing so he stuck his freshly cut cane into the ground. When he finished with the maple tree he went away, forgetting to take his walking stick with him.

"Hiram Hasbrouck returned to New York and brought back his family which include Cornelious, the father of Jesse and the son accompanied the parent on another hike to the farm near Clark lake. Mr. Hasbrouck made an inspection of the maple tree, which he had planted on the previous visit, and was surprised to find another tree growing nearby. It was the walking stick which had accompanied him from Adrian, according to Jesse D. Hasbrouck.

"Mr. Hasbrouck estimated the balm tree to be 100 feet tall. Its odd shape supports the story that it was once a walking stick. Outside of a few branches of recent growth, its thick limbs all grow away from one part of the trunk, rearing upward and outward from a point approximately 35 feet from the ground, as would probably happen in case a walking stick was planted and grew into a cane.

"The tree has large round leaves in the summer," Hasbrouck stated. "It has buds also, each of which is about as large as an oat. The buds taste bitter and contain a sticky, gluelike substance. A medicine, balm of gilead, is obtained from the balm tree.

The balm tree will be 100 years old in the summer of 1934. It has lived with several generations of the Hasbrouck family and has become an old landmark. In its day, the Indians forded the Grand river at a point a short distance west and passed under its branches as they headed eastward. It knew several Negro slaves who accompanied Hiram Hasbrouck to his farm nearly 100 years ago and who built the house and barn which still stand.

"Among these slaves were Peter DuBois and his wife Katie. The couple remained with the Hasbroucks a long time after they were given their freedom, then moved to the city of Jackson where they resided for years. Mr. Hasbrouck possesses an old block of wood on which Peter burned his initials and the date."

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem.

2. In the second part, we consider the case of a single particle.

3. The third part is devoted to the case of a system of particles.

4. In the fourth part, we consider the case of a continuous medium.

5. The fifth part is devoted to the case of a system of continuous media.

6. In the sixth part, we consider the case of a system of continuous media.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the existence of solutions of the system of equations

$$\frac{dx}{dt} = f(x, y, z),$$

where

and the functions  $f, g, h$  are assumed to be continuous and satisfy the Lipschitz condition.

$$f(x, y, z) = \frac{1}{1+x^2+y^2+z^2},$$

the system of equations is $$\frac{dx}{dt} = \frac{1}{1+x^2+y^2+z^2},$$

$$\frac{dy}{dt} = \frac{y}{1+x^2+y^2+z^2},$$

$$\frac{dz}{dt} = \frac{z}{1+x^2+y^2+z^2}.$$

It is easy to see that the system of equations has a solution for any initial conditions.

$$x(t) = \frac{1}{1+t^2},$$

$$y(t) = \frac{y_0}{1+t^2},$$

$$z(t) = \frac{z_0}{1+t^2}.$$

2. The second part of the paper is devoted to a study of the stability of the solutions of the system of equations

$$\frac{dx}{dt} = f(x, y, z),$$

$$\frac{dy}{dt} = g(x, y, z),$$

$$\frac{dz}{dt} = h(x, y, z).$$

where

$$f(x, y, z) = \frac{1}{1+x^2+y^2+z^2},$$

$$g(x, y, z) = \frac{y}{1+x^2+y^2+z^2},$$

$$h(x, y, z) = \frac{z}{1+x^2+y^2+z^2}.$$ from N. Y. Daily Tribune 4-17-1909:

"Charles M. Preston, former Superintendent of Banks of New York State died at his home here today (4-16). His health had been failing for some time. On that account, he had been compelled recently to resign the receivership of the New York Building-Loan Banking Company which he had held since 1903. He was appointed Superintendent of Banks by Governor Hill and reappointed by Governor Flower.

"It was in connection with the Building-Loan receivership that Mr. Preston figured most prominently in recent years. The New York Building-Loan Banking Company failed in 1903 under somewhat sensational circumstances owing twelve thousand depositors. Mr. Preston was at once placed in charge of the tangled affairs of the company. Since that time he had succeeded in paying one dividend of 15 cents on the dollar. The legal department caused the shareholders much perplexity. When the late Attorney General Cunneen forced the concern into bankruptcy, he recommended the retention of a competent lawyer, on a salary of about $12,000 a year, to direct the inevitable litigation. Early this present month the affairs of the company came to public notice again, when Charles W. Dayton, Jr. put in a claim for $12,528.48 for legal services. That matter is still in the courts.

"A few years ago with A. B. Hepburn of the Chase National Bank, and Charles S. Fairchild, Secretary of the Treasury under President Cleveland, he took hold of the fragments out of which grew the present Equitable Security Company. At that time it was insolvent and had failed for $7,000,000. This obligation was paid off and the present company formed. When the company had been put on its feet, Mr. Preston resigned and went back to his law practice at No. 15 Wall Street.

"Mr. Preston was born in Roxbury, Delaware County in 1852. He studied law at Albany and was graduated from the Albany Law School. He then took up the practice of law in Kingston, where he remained until 1889, when he became Banking Superintendent.

1883. His first duty after graduation was on the frontier at Fort Fred Steele, Wymoing, in the Indian Country, where he remained during 1883-4. He was promoted to First Lieutenant 13th Infantry Feb. 24, 1891; was transferred to 14th Inf. the following July; was promoted Captain of Inf. July 2, 1889.
Major 29th Inf. July 2, 1906, transferred to 14th Inf. in August.
Lt.-Col. 18th Inf. Nov. 27, 1911 and Col. October 24, 1915. At the outbreak of the war with Spain, he was on duty at Riverview Military Academy, Poughkeepsie, as professor of military science and tactics, and at his own request was relieved from duty there in order to join his regiment, the 14th Infantry, which was ordered to the Philippines for duty in the field. He served with this command in Philippine campaigns and also in an expedition to China under Major General Chaffee, against the Boxers in 1900, and took part in the fighting incident to the relief of the besieged legations at Peking. During the World War he served in the Philippines and in Texas. He was retired from active service Nov. 30, 1919 at his own request, after more than forty years service.

"Col. Hasbrouck was a very popular officer in his command and on leaving Fort McKinley, P.I., in September, 1919, his last post of duty before his retirement and where he was in command of the Third Philippine Regiment, he was given a great reception. Before the assembled regiment and all persons at the post he was presented by the enlisted men with a gold-mounted golf bag containing a complete set of clubs and balls, also a cribbage board made of native narra wood, and was given three rousing cheers. In the evening all the officers and ladies gathered at Schofield Hall where a dinner was served. All responded and in the most affectionate terms expressed deep love and admiration for the Colonel. The officers presented the Colonel with a gold watch and the officers and ladies gave to Mrs. Hulme, Colonel's sister, an exquisitely enameled traveling watch. Colonel Hasbrouck was buried in the Military Academy Cemetery at West Point with full military honors on August 26, 1920, in pursuance of Special Orders issued by Brigadier General MacArthur. His sister was Mrs. Louisa H. Hulme who always accompanied him on his tours in the army for many years.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function  $f(x)$  defined by the equation where  $f(x)$  is a continuous function on the interval  $[0, 1]$  and  $f(0) = 1$ . It is shown that the function  $f(x)$  is uniquely determined by these conditions and that it is a decreasing function on the interval  $[0, 1]$ .

$$f(x) = \frac{1}{x} \int_0^x f(t) dt \quad (1)$$

2.

The second part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function  $g(x)$  defined by the equation

$$g(x) = \frac{1}{x} \int_0^x g(t) dt \quad (2)$$

where  $g(x)$  is a continuous function on the interval  $[0, 1]$  and  $g(0) = 1$ . It is shown that the function  $g(x)$  is uniquely determined by these conditions and that it is a decreasing function on the interval  $[0, 1]$ .

3. The third part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function  $h(x)$  defined by the equation where  $h(x)$  is a continuous function on the interval  $[0, 1]$  and  $h(0) = 1$ . It is shown that the function  $h(x)$  is uniquely determined by these conditions and that it is a decreasing function on the interval  $[0, 1]$ .

$$h(x) = \frac{1}{x} \int_0^x h(t) dt \quad (3)$$

4. The fourth part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function  $k(x)$  defined by the equation where  $k(x)$  is a continuous function on the interval  $[0, 1]$  and  $k(0) = 1$ . It is shown that the function  $k(x)$  is uniquely determined by these conditions and that it is a decreasing function on the interval  $[0, 1]$ .

$$k(x) = \frac{1}{x} \int_0^x k(t) dt \quad (4)$$

5. The fifth part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function  $l(x)$  defined by the equation where  $l(x)$  is a continuous function on the interval  $[0, 1]$  and  $l(0) = 1$ . It is shown that the function  $l(x)$  is uniquely determined by these conditions and that it is a decreasing function on the interval  $[0, 1]$ .

6. The sixth part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function  $m(x)$  defined by the equation

$$m(x) = \frac{1}{x} \int_0^x m(t) dt \quad (6)$$

1. The first group of people who are interested in the study of the history of the world are the historians. They are people who study the past and try to understand what happened and why it happened. They use a variety of sources, including books, documents, and artifacts, to reconstruct the past. They also try to understand the people who lived in the past and how they thought and felt. Historians are interested in the lives of people from all times and places, and they try to understand the world as it was and how it has changed over time.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the existence of solutions of the system of equations where  $f(x, y, z)$  is a continuous function of  $x, y, z$  in a certain domain  $D$  of the space  $(x, y, z)$ .

$$\frac{dx}{dt} = f(x, y, z),$$

$$\frac{dy}{dt} = g(x, y, z),$$

$$\frac{dz}{dt} = h(x, y, z).$$

It is assumed that the function  $f(x, y, z)$  is continuous in  $D$  and that the functions  $g(x, y, z)$  and  $h(x, y, z)$  are continuous in  $D$  and have continuous partial derivatives with respect to  $x, y, z$ .

$$\frac{dx}{dt} = f(x, y, z),$$

$$\frac{dy}{dt} = g(x, y, z),$$

$$\frac{dz}{dt} = h(x, y, z).$$

The second part of the paper is devoted to a study of the properties of the solutions of the system of equations

$$\frac{dx}{dt} = f(x, y, z),$$

$$\frac{dy}{dt} = g(x, y, z),$$

$$\frac{dz}{dt} = h(x, y, z).$$

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem of the existence of solutions of the system of equations

$$\frac{dx}{dt} = f(x, y, z), \quad \frac{dy}{dt} = g(x, y, z), \quad \frac{dz}{dt} = h(x, y, z),$$ where  $f, g, h$  are continuous functions of  $x, y, z$  and satisfy certain conditions.

2. In the second part, we consider the case where the functions  $f, g, h$  are linear in  $x, y, z$ .

3. The third part of the paper is devoted to the study of the stability of the solutions of the system of equations.

$$\frac{dx}{dt} = -x, \quad \frac{dy}{dt} = -y, \quad \frac{dz}{dt} = -z.$$

4. In the fourth part, we consider the case where the functions  $f, g, h$  are quadratic in  $x, y, z$ .

5. The fifth part of the paper is devoted to the study of the periodic solutions of the system of equations.

6. In the sixth part, we consider the case where the functions  $f, g, h$  are cubic in  $x, y, z$ .

7. The seventh part of the paper is devoted to the study of the bifurcation of solutions of the system of equations.

8. In the eighth part, we consider the case where the functions  $f, g, h$  are quartic in  $x, y, z$ .

9. The ninth part of the paper is devoted to the study of the asymptotic behavior of the solutions of the system of equations.

10. The tenth part of the paper is devoted to the study of the global behavior of the solutions of the system of equations.

11. In the eleventh part, we consider the case where the functions  $f, g, h$  are quintic in  $x, y, z$ .

12. The twelfth part of the paper is devoted to the study of the qualitative behavior of the solutions of the system of equations.

14. In the thirteenth part, we consider the case where the functions  $f, g, h$  are sextic in  $x, y, z$ .

15. The fourteenth part of the paper is devoted to the study of the topological behavior of the solutions of the system of equations.

16. The fifteenth part of the paper is devoted to the study of the geometric behavior of the solutions of the system of equations.

17. In the sixteenth part, we consider the case where the functions  $f, g, h$  are septic in  $x, y, z$ .

18. The seventeenth part of the paper is devoted to the study of the dynamical behavior of the solutions of the system of equations.

19. In the eighteenth part, we consider the case where the functions  $f, g, h$  are octic in  $x, y, z$ .

20. The nineteenth part of the paper is devoted to the study of the ergodic behavior of the solutions of the system of equations.

1. The first part of the report is a general description of the project. It includes the purpose of the study, the objectives, and the scope of the work. This section is followed by a brief review of the literature related to the topic.

2. The second part of the report is a detailed description of the methodology used in the study.
This section includes information about the research design, the data collection methods, and the statistical analysis techniques used.

3. The third part of the report is a discussion of the results of the study. This section presents the findings of the research and discusses their implications. It also includes a comparison of the results with those of previous studies. The final part of the report is a conclusion and a list of references.

4. The fourth part of the report is a list of references. This section includes all the sources of information used in the study.
The references are listed in alphabetical order and include the author's name, the title of the work, and the publisher's name.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to a general discussion of the problem.

$$\frac{1}{x} = \frac{1}{x_0} + \frac{1}{x_1} + \frac{1}{x_2} + \dots$$

2. The second part of the paper is devoted to a detailed analysis of the case when  $x$  is a rational number.

$$\frac{1}{x} = \frac{1}{x_0} + \frac{1}{x_1} + \frac{1}{x_2} + \dots$$

3. The third part of the paper is devoted to a detailed analysis of the case when  $x$  is an irrational number.

$$\frac{1}{x} = \frac{1}{x_0} + \frac{1}{x_1} + \frac{1}{x_2} + \dots$$

4. The fourth part of the paper is devoted to a detailed analysis of the case when  $x$  is a transcendental number.

$$\frac{1}{x} = \frac{1}{x_0} + \frac{1}{x_1} + \frac{1}{x_2} + \dots$$

5. The fifth part of the paper is devoted to a detailed analysis of the case when  $x$  is an algebraic number.

$$\frac{1}{x} = \frac{1}{x_0} + \frac{1}{x_1} + \frac{1}{x_2} + \dots$$

6. The sixth part of the paper is devoted to a detailed analysis of the case when  $x$  is a complex number.

$$\frac{1}{x} = \frac{1}{x_0} + \frac{1}{x_1} + \frac{1}{x_2} + \dots$$

7. The seventh part of the paper is devoted to a detailed analysis of the case when  $x$  is a real number.

$$\frac{1}{x} = \frac{1}{x_0} + \frac{1}{x_1} + \frac{1}{x_2} + \dots$$

8. The eighth part of the paper is devoted to a detailed analysis of the case when  $x$  is a complex number.

$$\frac{1}{x} = \frac{1}{x_0} + \frac{1}{x_1} + \frac{1}{x_2} + \dots$$

9. The ninth part of the paper is devoted to a detailed analysis of the case when  $x$  is a real number.

$$\frac{1}{x} = \frac{1}{x_0} + \frac{1}{x_1} + \frac{1}{x_2} + \dots$$

10. The tenth part of the paper is devoted to a detailed analysis of the case when  $x$  is a complex number.

$$\frac{1}{x} = \frac{1}{x_0} + \frac{1}{x_1} + \frac{1}{x_2} + \dots$$

Figure 1 is a line graph illustrating the percentage of the total sample for various age groups across different years. The y-axis represents the percentage of the total sample, ranging from 0 to 100. The x-axis represents the years, with labels for 1970, 1980, 1990, 2000, 2010, and 2020. The age groups are represented by different line styles: 0-14 (solid line), 15-24 (dashed line), 25-34 (dotted line), 35-44 (dash-dot line), 45-54 (long dashed line), 55-64 (short dashed line), 65-74 (solid line with circles), and 75+ (solid line with triangles). The graph shows a clear trend of aging, with the 0-14 group decreasing from about 20% in 1970 to near 0% in 2020, and the 65-74 and 75+ groups increasing significantly over time.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function  $f(x)$  defined by the equation

$$f(0) = 0, \quad f(1) = 1$$

and

$$f\left(\frac{x}{2}\right) = \frac{1}{2} \left( f\left(\frac{x}{4}\right) + f\left(\frac{x+1}{4}\right) \right) \quad (2)$$

He writes: "At the beginning of World War I, my mother, father, and family of 6 boys and one girl were all living in east Texas, with the exception of my two older brothers Fred and Edwin who were living in western Washington. We were split up for a time during the war but shortly after we were all united again in western Washington.

"In 1927 my wife, myself, and four very small children came to southeastern Alaska. I was going to log through the summer for a local sawmill, and then in the late fall we were going to return to Washington. But we found such a rugged, beautiful country, life so peaceful and independent, that we stayed on. In fact we did not get back down to the states together for a real visit until 1941. When I say peaceful life, I do not mean that there were no adventures. We have had adventures enough to satisfy anyone. We spent 14 years of our life here on a fox island raising blue foxes. My wife taught the youngsters until they were ready for high school, then we had to move into town.

A 1919 release from Advance Press Service states: ". . . . . clerk and general office assistant from 1888 to 1892 with the J. M. Schoonmaker Coke Co. and later with the H. C. Frick Co., at their Redstone plant at Brownfield, south of Uniontown, Pa. In 1893 Mr. Nutt moved to Akron, Ohio where he purchased a jewelry store at a receivers' sale. Though he had no acquaintance in the city at that time and no previous experience, he applied strict business methods in the conduct of the business with successful results. In the spring of 1897 he organized the Central Savings Bank Co. of Akron, Ohio, now known as the Central Savings & Trust Co. which is one of the leading financial institutions of that city. In 1901 he was elected secretary and treasurer of the Savings and Trust Co. of Cleveland and has continued with that company and its successor, the Citizens Savings and Trust Co. . . . was elected president January 1918. . . . . Mr. Nutt was a great factor in the development of electric and interurban electric railways in different sections of the country, at one time being director or officer of as many as fifteen companies. He took a prominent part in the formation of the Quaker Oats Co. and has been closely associated ever since with its management. The successful upbuilding of the Independent Telephone business in Akron, Ohio, is largely ascribed to Mr. Nutt. . . . At one time he individually owned and operated the electric light and power plants of Fort Worth, Texas, relinquishing his ownership at a large profit when it was deemed advisable to incorporate to secure added capital on its securities for development purposes. Even the lumber business in Virginia and coal lands in West Virginia and Pennsylvania attracted Mr. Nutt where he has largely interested himself. . . . ."

A 1928 political release, when he had been named Treasurer of the National Republican Party, states: "While never an active participant in politics, Mr. Nutt has been a Republican all his life. As a banker he has dealt with business men large and small. During his entire career he has held positions of trust, leaving one position only to take a higher one.

"Mr. Nutt brings to the National Republican organization a record of unimpeachable integrity and experience and ability in handling finances unsurpassed by any man in the country and an individual character that can be guaranteed by thousands of persons who have come in contact with him." In 1920 he became president of Union Trust Co. He was son of ADAM CLARK NUTT & CHARLOTTE WELLS

The first part of the document discusses the general principles of the system and its application in various fields.
 It is important to note that the system is designed to be flexible and adaptable to changing requirements.

The second part of the document provides a detailed description of the system's components and their interrelationships.
 This section includes a flowchart illustrating the data flow and processing steps. The system is designed to handle large volumes of data efficiently.
 The third part of the document describes the implementation details, including the hardware and software requirements.
 It also discusses the testing procedures and the results of the experiments.

The fourth part of the document discusses the future work and the potential applications of the system. It is expected that the system will be widely adopted in the near future. The fifth part of the document provides a summary of the findings and conclusions.
 It also includes a list of references and a bibliography.
 The document is intended to provide a comprehensive overview of the system and its capabilities.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function  $f(x)$  defined by the equation where  $f(x)$  is a continuous function on the interval  $[0, 1]$  and  $f(0) = 0$ ,  $f(1) = 1$ . It is shown that the function  $f(x)$  is uniquely determined by these conditions and that it is a linear function.

2. In the second part of the paper, the properties of the function  $f(x)$  are studied in more detail. It is shown that the function  $f(x)$  is a linear function and that it is a linear function.

3. In the third part of the paper, the properties of the function  $f(x)$  are studied in more detail. It is shown that the function  $f(x)$  is a linear function and that it is a linear function.

4. In the fourth part of the paper, the properties of the function  $f(x)$  are studied in more detail. It is shown that the function  $f(x)$  is a linear function and that it is a linear function.

5. In the fifth part of the paper, the properties of the function  $f(x)$  are studied in more detail. It is shown that the function  $f(x)$  is a linear function and that it is a linear function.

6. In the sixth part of the paper, the properties of the function  $f(x)$  are studied in more detail. It is shown that the function  $f(x)$  is a linear function and that it is a linear function.

7. In the seventh part of the paper, the properties of the function  $f(x)$  are studied in more detail. It is shown that the function  $f(x)$  is a linear function and that it is a linear function.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function  $f(x)$  defined by the equation

$$f(x) = \int_0^x f(t) dt + \int_0^x g(t) dt$$
 where  $f(t)$  and  $g(t)$  are continuous functions on the interval  $[0, 1]$ .

2. In the second part, we consider the problem of finding the maximum value of the function  $f(x)$  on the interval  $[0, 1]$ .

3. The third part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function  $f(x)$  defined by the equation

$$f(x) = \int_0^x f(t) dt + \int_0^x g(t) dt$$
 where  $f(t)$  and  $g(t)$  are continuous functions on the interval  $[0, 1]$ .

1. The first part of the report is a general introduction to the subject of the study. It discusses the importance of the problem and the objectives of the research.

2. The second part of the report is a detailed description of the methods used in the study. It includes a discussion of the experimental design, the data collection procedures, and the statistical analysis techniques.

3. The third part of the report is a presentation of the results of the study. It includes a discussion of the findings, a comparison of the results with previous research, and a conclusion about the significance of the study.

4. The fourth part of the report is a discussion of the implications of the study. It includes a discussion of the limitations of the study, the strengths of the findings, and the potential for future research.

5. The fifth part of the report is a summary of the study. It includes a brief overview of the main findings and a final conclusion about the significance of the study.

1. The first part of the paper is devoted to the study of the properties of the function  $f(x)$  defined by the equation

$$f(x) = \int_0^x \frac{1}{1+t^2} dt$$

It is shown that the function  $f(x)$  is continuous and differentiable on the interval  $(-\infty, \infty)$ .

The derivative of the function  $f(x)$  is given by the formula

$$f'(x) = \frac{1}{1+x^2}$$

It is also shown that the function  $f(x)$  is bounded on the interval

$$(-\infty, \infty)$$

$$f(x) \in C^1(-\infty, \infty)$$

$$f(x) \in C^2(-\infty, \infty)$$

$$f(x) \in C^3(-\infty, \infty)$$

$$f(x) \in C^4(-\infty, \infty)$$

$$f(x) \in C^5(-\infty, \infty)$$

$$f(x) \in C^6(-\infty, \infty)$$

$$f(x) \in C^7(-\infty, \infty)$$

$$f(x) \in C^8(-\infty, \infty)$$

$$f(x) \in C^9(-\infty, \infty)$$

1. Chlorophyll a and Chlorophyll b were determined by the method of Lichtenthaler and Sponholz (1980). The total chlorophyll content was determined by the method of Arar and Cook (1980). The carotenoid content was determined by the method of Lichtenthaler and Sponholz (1980). The total carotenoid content was determined by the method of Arar and Cook (1980). The total protein content was determined by the method of Lowry et al. (1951). The total lipid content was determined by the method of Bligh and Dyer (1959). The total carbohydrate content was determined by the method of Dubois and Gilles (1950). The total nucleic acid content was determined by the method of Burton (1956). The total ash content was determined by the method of AOAC (1990). The total water content was determined by the method of AOAC (1990). The total dry weight was determined by the method of AOAC (1990). The total organic matter content was determined by the method of AOAC (1990). The total inorganic matter content was determined by the method of AOAC (1990). The total mineral content was determined by the method of AOAC (1990). The total nutrient content was determined by the method of AOAC (1990). The total quality index was determined by the method of AOAC (1990).

Figure 1. The effect of the initial concentration of the monomer on the polymerization of l-lysine. The polymerization was carried out at 30°C for 24 h. The initial concentration of the monomer was 0.05, 0.1, 0.2, 0.3, 0.4, 0.5, 0.6, 0.7, 0.8, 0.9, and 1.0 mol/L. The initial concentration of the initiator was 0.005 mol/L. The initial concentration of the catalyst was 0.005 mol/L. The initial concentration of the solvent was 0.05 mol/L. The initial concentration of the buffer was 0.05 mol/L. The initial concentration of the water was 0.05 mol/L. The initial concentration of the other components was 0.05 mol/L.

Figure 1. Schematic diagram of the experimental setup. The laser beam is focused on the sample by a lens. The scattered light is collected by a lens and detected by a photodiode. The sample is mounted on a stage that can be moved along the x and y axes. The distance between the lens and the sample is 10 cm. The distance between the lens and the photodiode is 10 cm. The distance between the sample and the photodiode is 20 cm. The angle of detection is 90°.
